What a cute picture

on the Inderlake football field and try out for the football team. We should just for fun. We'd be the laughing stock of the school, but then everyone would know who we were. We'd have the reputation of being hard up. But then again aren't we? Better yet we could go to one of those little parties, get keith and Mark drunk then.... but first let's settle this I saw Mark first! You get Keith. We'll have to forget Eileen and Julie next year. Oh ya but we can't forget Doug. You'll just have to flip him the bird or just do something that will get him off your back. He could turn out okay if you'd just give it a try and don't be such a prude! my God, Janet. You'll really get the reputation of being a sweet, innocent, young thing. Or maybe you'd like it that way. (only kidding) Just think in 2 years we'll look back at all this bull and probably pee our pants. Either that or we'll think how immature and childish we were. Well again I say you've been a great friend and boy-watcher. Don't ever forget the "fluffy little kitten" or the lion. I'm sure I'll be up at your house all summer since I know you're too lazy to come down here. (at least I'll get exercise!) Well "have a great summer and I hope I get in some of your classes." (how's that for originality) Here's to you lucky!!

Your true friend.

Traci

Julie, Janet, Diane: Guess what? I'm back for this summer) Hey, you're lucky, oh yeah, I'll learn to play golf, I can't forget a dance, but you should see Shakespeare in Bermuda shorts & sandals. Oh well, I guess I'll have a dance, but you should see Shakespeare in Bermuda shorts & sandals. Oh well, I guess I'll have to miss me this summer

Janet:
Well, Mrs. Henderson, hasn't this year gone fast? Of course it has, because it was fun. I'm glad you were in my classes besides English cause you're a BLAST! You're really cute smart & a lot of things - I won't embarrass you by. Have a fantastic summer. See ya next year.
Love
Sande ← (my paw prints).

Wow, this is the last of my last 2 days. Yeah I'm sorry you'll have to be here another week. I'm glad we had our debate and our campaign together. Don't forget our victorious campaign. I hope these next 2 years will be even better than this one. I'm sure you'll make them that way. Try HARD! You're really smart! Good luck and have fun always and forever,
Kerry

Sometimes,
Not often enough
We reflect upon the good things

And our thoughts always center around the time we spent together

Janet, this year was fun in P.E. I can't believe that the year is over though! Have a super fun summer & I hope to have some classes with you again next year. Good luck –

You've Got Class '75

"Togetherness" was the key word this year as the junior class tried to bring a lot more spirit to Interlake. Being the "class in the middle" is often no fun at all, and at times can be tedious, with the seniors looking down on you and the sophomores constantly bothering you with seemingly stupid questions.

If the juniors were at all bothered by this, they didn't let it show. They did a great job and put a lot of hard work into keeping their class working together. Seventy-five, you've got class!

Howdy Janet,
Hope your summer is good,
and hope to see ya next year,
dunno trying to think of something original but were kinda rushed.

Janet—

It was great it band this year wasn't it. I hope you love it as much as I do. You are really talented and will really go far. Don't be afraid to challenge next year - you can get a good chair. You probably should have got a higher one this year, but fourth isn't bad at all - especially for a sophomore!! Have a great summer and if you go to Bountiful again yell "Hello Richard" really loud for me.

See ya next year.

The Key to the Future . . . the Past

It is important for us today, as we are growing to fit into the society around us, to study man's past achievements and conflicts in order to understand the world in which we live. It is the purpose of the Social Studies department to provide courses which enable us to gain an insight into the social conflicts men encounter so that we may be able to see our future a little more clearly.

Creativity - An Expression of a Free People

If you think that everything today is so practical and too functional, and that esthetic ideas are all dead and gone, you should have taken a little trip up to the E building this year. You would have found that there were some really unbelievable things going on up there.

Art, home ec, photography and industrial ed are some of the classes Interlake offered in which the content of the class was decided by your talents, capabilities and creativity. There was a fantastic variety of classes in these areas that you could design for yourself, depending on your abilities.

Everything from boats to banana cream pies to batman in sculpture was manufactured up in the art building. Well, you said you wanted to be creative!!

2001 - A Reality

More and more students are finding out that science is going to be the one factor in deciding the future of the world. Only one year of a lab science is required for graduation from Interlake, but many students are taking two or even three years of sciences because they realize how important it will be in going to college, finding a career, or even in merely existing on earth.

Besides the traditional biology, chemistry, and physics classes, there are botany, animal studies, advanced chemistry, project physics, electronics, and electricity. With such a wide range of classes, students have become more interested in science and concerned with the care and preservation of the earth on which we live.

It is fascinating to learn how just one person can change the shape of things to come; science is the only way to find out.

Safety in Numbers

How would you have liked to have been the driver of a shining Datsun when suddenly you were rudely crashed into by a rather careless and unthinking gentleman? If you were enrolled in the Traffic Safety Program this year, you could have had this once in a lifetime chance to have your car totaled, while your favorite instructor sat terrified in his bucket seat, and three of your co-drivers pleaded mercifully for their lives. This freak accident actually happened early this year, and according to Jim Zachow, driver's ed instructor, it was really a whopper.

The impatience of youth was the main reason for enrollment in the traffic safety classes. The purpose of driver's ed was to provide for eager students the ways and means to receive their driver's licenses before the age of eighteen. Also the rare chance to get killed off before leaving high school.

Math, on the other hand, was a quite a bit more safe class to take. Geometry, algebra and trigonometry are the roots of the future, and many students are beginning to take interest in them. While not quite as exciting or thrilling as driver's ed, many students considered themselves daredevils to enroll in algebra, trig or calculus. The most dangerous part of being in a math class was struggling and fighting your way through the crowds at registration to get signed up in the first place.

Business Ed. was an enjoyable area. There was always a wide choice of interesting classes to take, and besides learning information that you could profit by for the rest of your life, the classes were always fun. There were many different types of equipment to use, many different techniques and functions to learn, as well as some great teachers to get to know.

Whether your interests lay in the physical or the mental, P.E. and Business Ed. had something to offer to each student

P.E. and Business . . .
A Variety of Action

P.E. was a fun area to be involved with. With all the various types of equipment and the wide range of activities, it was hard not to want to be involved. As well as stressing the importance of keeping the body conditioned, it urged students to explore physical capabilities and discover a basic understanding of movement.

Bernadettes, weight training, gymnastics and modern dance were also included under the P.E. heading. With such a wide variety of classes, there was surely something for everyone.

Just A Slip of the Tongue

Foreign Language- trying to learn a whole new way of speaking. This year, this department tried new methods of teaching (along with the rest of the teachers) to make the courses a little easier. The students who take these classes have a distinct advantage over others in that they can communicate with two different cultures.

The main purpose of the music department was to provide entertainment in the community and develop the musical skills of those involved. The department was composed of several groups, all with their individual ways of putting music together. They provided entertainment at home games, assemblies and concerts, and graduation. In addition, they were able to develop their musical skills so that they may continue in the musical field later on in life. They really worked hard and did a great job — and they were GOOD!

One of the purposes of the Language Arts area was to stimulate creativity in the student so that he may add his own thoughts and ideas to those of the people around him, forming the world's literary resources. This year the department seemed to stress individuality as well, and the teachers strove to express new and different ways. The whole concept was to give the students more initiative. Has it worked?

Best wishes, Janet

Job Well Done

Administration: A stuffy, dull word for a job that is anything but stuffy and dull. Any job that deals with 1,300 high schoolers, some 900 parents and a school board that all have different ideas as to how the school should be run is anything but dull. Or stuffy. Or maybe even sane. Nonetheless, Interlake's administrators, principal Dr. Robert Pickering, assistant principals Roger Ringstad and John Price, and activities coordinator Tom Flynn at press time were all alive and well after surviving another year at Interlake, a year filled with highs and lows.

Mr. Roger Ringstad spends hours at the books during Interlake's convenient "walk through" registration, adjusting, readjusting and re-readjusting student schedules. "It tends to magnify all of the problems in one short time, but I think there's real value in it."

Mr. Tom Flynn, activities coordinator, who, next to the janitors, probably spends more after-school hours at school than anyone, sees a growth in interest and enthusiasm for school activities. "I just wish we had the facilities to take care of all of the activities, and the faculty to supervise them. It gets frustrating, we've added all these new sports and clubs which is great, but they all need the use of the facilities here, which are limited. That's one of my main concerns: the coordination of the use of the facilities we have."

Up on the main throne is Dr. Pickering, who intentionally left the school district's central offices to come back to a school job as principal of IHS. "I'll tell you," he remarked, "school is a never dull job. It's hectic and you can't really plan what you're going to do from day to day, but I like my job because I'm dealing with people at a level where what I do or decide can help them, can help alleviate a problem. It does have its frustrating moments, though. Schools are one thing to one person and something else to another. As principal, I'm supposed to meet the expectations of 1,300 students and some 2,000 parents as to what I should be or do. About all you can do is let them take a little chunk of your seat and take the good with the bad."

John Price, who originally came to IHS as a counselor, sees his job with certain advantages and disadvantages. Disadvantages—"In my job, I'm constantly dealing with students, parents and teachers in a crisis situation. Usually if I'm involved in something, there's something wrong." Advantages—"I get a great satisfaction out of seeing action taken in a positive manner in a pressure, conflict situation. I like the way Interlake students can resolve a problem verbally instead of physically, it's a pleasant atmosphere. My job is a people job—and I like the people."

Always Enough Time

People helping people. That's what counselors are all about. Interlake's four counselors were an important part of their high school experience to many students. Whether they were helping plan the future through career counseling, or just trying to help them cope with the present through scheduling of classes and helping student-teacher relations, or providing an open door or a friendly ear, there was always someone who cared enough to listen and help.

As long as there are problems there will be people who are concerned and capable enough to help students through them. And as long as we've got Rich Carlson, Bob Couch, Maggie Unrue, and Liela Nicholas, we couldn't ask for anything more.

Special Jobs - For Special People

The teaching positions that probably involved the most amount of patience and understanding were those concerned with special education, audio-visual and reading skills. The librarians also played a large part in this, since they showed just about the most patience ever displayed in human beings.

The people involved in these areas were more than just instructors; they were friends and counselors, inspirations and sympathetic ears. Whether it was increasing your reading comprehension, or learning how to thread a projector, or even learning how the catalogue works, any problem could be easily solved with their aid.

Anyone who has come in contact with and gotten to know the librarians, AV coordinators, reading skills and basic communications teachers will have been glad that they did.

8 Days a Week - 32 Hours a Day

As each loyal secretary began her day's work, she probably wondered what new adventure the coming day would bring. The very thought of attacking and organizing the many time-consuming tasks that secretaries perform would certainly have been enough to have sent most of us back to our warm beds.

But not our efficient, industrious secretaries. They were a great group of friendly, busy humans with infinite patience. However wrongly, they were often taken for granted. But how could you have enjoyed a morning without a bulletin? A September without organized confusion (known as registration)? Or how about a basketball game with no tickets?

The secretaries were behind all these responsibilities, and a manifold of other necessary, however unglamorous jobs. Dr. Pickering and the other administrators were a hard act to follow, but it was all in a day for the secretaries.

Janet,
It's been fun in band at times but you made it little better. Just kiddin. I'm glad I got to know you. You very mature for a sophomore. We had a pretty good time in Victoria. It could have been better. At least we got to know each other. You really look good since you lost that weight. Keep it up. Come visit me at Brenners one time or I don't see ya this summer, maybe I'll come back and visit the Band next year when in concert.

Stay happy & Cheerish life.

Love always,
your band partner

Yesterday Once More . . . Homecoming '73

Hands stuffed in the front pockets of his skin-tight Levi's, unlit match flipping back and forth between his teeth, he swaggered along the gym floor in front of the wide-eyed student body. The black leather jacket that adorned him opened to expose the dark T-shirt, his slicked-back oily hair gleaming under the lights. A cut from "American Graffiti?" Nope. Just super-greaser Frank Olsheski helping initiate Homecoming '73 in a week that featured everything from a slave sale to fashion shows.

Monday started out harmlessly enough with the kickoff assembly, highlighted by the drill team-faculty "sock hop," and JV cheerleader "candidate" Mark Runyan performing with a cheerleader style never before seen at IHS . . . At lunch was the football player slave sale in which choice beef went as high as $9-$10 a head.

Tuesday was junior day, the 50's was the theme, greasers and ponytails made the scene. The homecoming court was announced, and the juniors put on a "talent show" and fashion display of their era.

Wednesday the sophomores depicted the 1920's as popgun gangsters and hip-swinging "flappers" populated the halls. Their lunch time skit included an off beat version of the "stripper." (See page 19)

Thursday the seniors took over, barnyard and all, as farmers. Besides setting records for toothpick and wheat stalk chewing, a "country fair" was held during the "noonie, featuring cow pokin', foot-stomping music, purple-faced Pentheny and the Mystery of the Vanishing Pie, and the rip-roaring, cobblestone shaking Enduro 500 tricycle race, won in a photo-finish by the invincible Captain Sterling.

A wooden "I-H-S" was burned (well, at least charred) at the frosty pep rally held Thursday night and the press box, newly decorated with the painting of Interlake's famous Saint Bernard by the CIA, was occupied the entire night by three Interlake fanatics, Greg Carpenter, Gordon Oakes, and Gary Andrews waiting for Mercer Island rowdies. They never showed up . . .

. . . A Week Worth Remembering

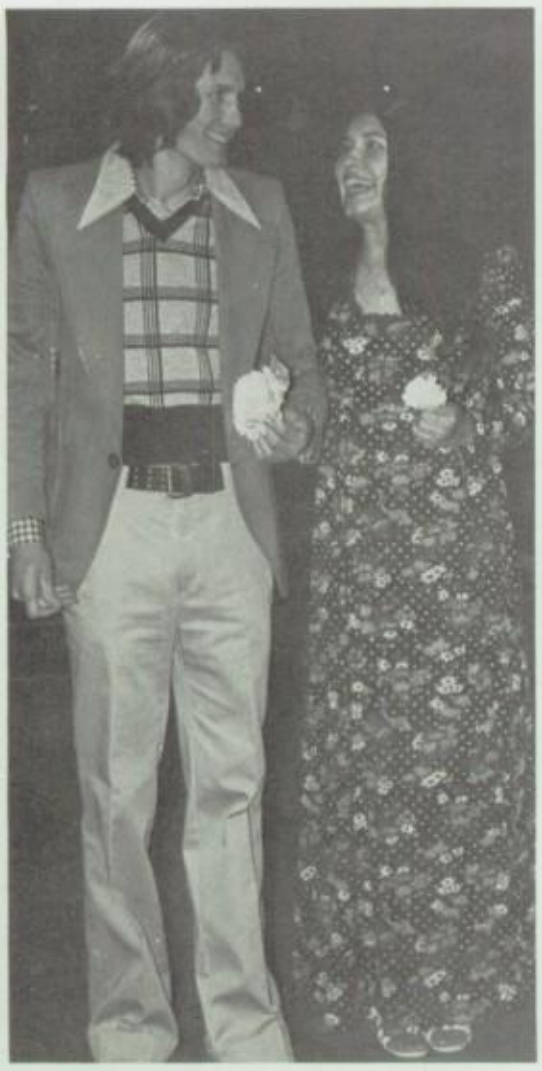
A Big Success



Janet,
You are a very nice person, stay that way. Have fun this summer and keep happy. I'll see you next year.

.... Unfortunately, the team DID show up the next evening and wiped out Interlake's chances of a KingCo championship, but the fun and frenzy of homecoming failed to get bogged down as class floats and royalty were displayed at halftime. With escort Riley Koch was Homecoming Queen Terri Johnson. Senior princess was Vicki Wharton, escort Brian Nelson, junior princess was Laurie Parks, escort, Dave Pflug, and sophomore princess was Molly Steele, escorted by Jeff Osborn. Between 400 and 500 people showed up as Chinook banged out the music following the game.

"The whole week was FANTASTIC!" said Homecoming chairperson Rise Trudeau. "Ideas that came up were followed through with, and everyone really got involved. It was the best Homecoming ever."

Homecoming '73 WAS a week to remember.

Bernies Are Active

This year's Bernadettes led the spirited Interlake fans through another exciting season of sports. Present at every home and many away athletic activities, the Bernies were always fired up and ready to march. A frequent sight around football season was 24 bundled up and very cold girls marching on the field at 7 a.m.

Working hard and putting in many hours of sacrifice led to a rewarding marching season. But play and fun also entered into the busy schedule, with the Bernies performing a 50's dance routine at homecoming and a holiday routine at Christmastime.

Looking forward to doing well in the annual state competition held in the spring, this year in Spokane, Captain Betsy Dean happily announced that this year's group was the best team she could ever hope to work with. "All the fun we had as well as all the work we put in made us a very close group. We'd all like to give special thanks to our very patient advisor, Jan Kelley."

Hey White,

This year brought with it many examples of victory. Whether it was victory of leading a crowd or just being involved to discover themselves, this year's cheerleaders, Sue Hanen, Marya Lambert, Toni Puzzo, Debbie Jarboe, Joni Ringstad and Leslie Stubbs worked together to produce activities which took advanced planning for perfection through a combination of work and play which took many hours and lots of spare time.

The girls proved their ability as quality cheerleaders this past summer when they competed against 64 other schools and won three blue ribbons. The girls proved a constant source of pep and support for Interlake and all of its activities.

Even though the Junior Varsity games don't draw the crowds that the varsity games do, Denise Baldwin, Cheryl Hammack, Amy Jacobson and Molly Steele spent many hours working on routines to bring about school spirit to support our team throughout the the athletic season. The girls were out there every Tuesday and Friday night giving all they had. That took lots of energy and enthusiasm to meet the requirements for which they were elected to help keep the spirit going and the crowds alive.

Rah! Rah! Rah!

Some 30 enthusiastic, school-spirited girls got together and brought back to Interlake an organized Pep Club that had been non-existent for the past two years. There were three groups that met one day each week and were held responsible for making posters and putting up locker signs for the upcoming sports events of each week during the school year. Other activities of the Pep Club included a car wash, oranges brought to the football players after games, and selling buttons. Promoting school spirit was the main idea behind Pep Club this year. Mrs. Virginia Williams was the girls' adviser.

The Lions' Den At Work

This year the local lions' den, also known as the ASB council, opened up for business, and as usual, the meetings either resembled the Roman coliseum at feeding time, a three ring circus, or the Watergate hearings. Most objectives were accomplished, though, and somehow the student government made it through the year. This year's leaders into battle were John Hanson, president; Eric Lind, vice president; Rise Trudeau, secretary; and Russ Ervin, treasurer.

The ASB was faced with a lot of tough decisions on smoking policy, litter problems, food fights and smaller items such as cheerleaders and rep rooms, but they fared well and came back from battle with only a few minor scars.

All the officers deserve much more credit than they are given for all the "behind the scenes" work they did and decisions they made, as well as all the major problems they tackled.

DECA the halls

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) was alive and booming this year as 60 seniors took part in the state-wide program in the distributive education class taught by Mr. Pat Molitor. The unique course, which Mr. Molitor likes to parallel to a three-legged stool, has three basic areas, the first being student organization, which includes the taking over and running of a Mayfair store for a day, the running of the student store at Interlake and student competition. The second leg of the program is the actual classroom participation with instruction in marketing experience, and the third leg is the work experience when the students are actually on the job, not only making money, but also being evaluated for their work with a 225-hour requirement for credit in the class.

Ski Club was once again non-existent this year. Even without it, 35 students got together for a week of skiing at Big Sky, Montana, and Grand Targhee, Wyoming, during spring vacation. Unlike the monsoons at Snoqualmie Pass, everyone got to enjoy some powder and sunshine.

And the Beat Goes On

Once again this year Concert Band acted as the Pep Band to promote spirit at games and provide good musical entertainment as well. They played everything from "When the Saints Go Marching In" and "Get It On" to the "Third Suite". Concert Band had many promising musicians. Three members qualified for All-State Band this year. They were senior Bob Phillips on trombone and juniors Mark McClurkin and Kim Frank on percussion.

The band raised a lot of money this year through candy sales and concerts for their trip to Victoria with their new marching uniforms. They also planned to attend Expo '74 if enough money was raised. Much of the credit for their success went to Mr. Leo Dodd, who kept the band swinging throughout the year.

At 7 a. m. in Music 1 exploded the swinging sounds of the Stage Band who were always producing that special kind of sound that is alive and keeps going. The effort that went into practicing for their performances offered a real opportunity for free musical expression. The Stage Band traveled around the state as usual and took part in many festivals such as the Newport Jazz Festival, Clark College Festival in Vancouver, Washington, and the Reno Jazz Festival.

String Lab was made up of about 14 people who were interested in a more serious type of music and got more individual attention because of the small size of the class.

A Song

Kantorians was a vocal group for students who had an interest in music and had the desire to sing. Along with this they practiced vocal skills, part coordination and balance, and after this practice was put together each separate vocalist blended together to make a chorus of beautiful sounds and harmony. Practicing a lot allowed them to perform their skills throughout the area. Visiting other schools to sing let them expand their vocal abilities.

Seven girls from Kantorians and Concert Choir made up Heather, a small group representing Interlake at many concerts this year.

for You

Concert choir included the most experienced singers who had to audition to be accepted to this group. They dedicated themselves to music and presented themselves in a manner of excellence. Being a member meant spending much time during and after school hours practicing. They sang at many places this year such as the Windjammer, University Methodist Temple and John Spellman's Christmas reception.

Those who participated in the vocal groups found that it was more than just a lesson in music. Working with each other closely, they found that it was also an experience in relating to people. The vocal department was under the direction of Mr. Bill Humphreys who said, "This year's music student has shown us musicianship of unusual quality at the high school level. Such dedication warms a teacher's heart."

Speak for Yourself

Debate started off its 1973-74 year with a new coach, Mr. Mike Marines. He kept the debate class going great guns on all of their work. There were several tournaments.

The debate team is a good-sized number of kids who carry around note cards and file boxes and are always ready to tell you how and why you are wrong. They are full of blood and vigor and seem to have a good time, especially at the tournaments. They are hard workers and it is an individual challenge to themselves and others which sometimes brings the rewards of a trophy if they are good or lucky enough. In other words, the debate team is one heck of a team.

Interlake's drama department started off the year with a couple of productions, the first a French comedy "Tartuffe", written by author Moliere. Tartuffe is a comedy about a religious hypocrite who uses his religion to con people and get what he wants. The play was directed by Mr. Terry Parker. The second play, also directed by Mr. Parker, was "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds", a misleading title. What sounds like a science-fiction thriller turned out to be a sad, dramatic story of a domineering mother's effect on her two daughters.

It was the biggest play in Interlake's history—six evening performances plus a standing-room-only student matinee; a total audience of more than 3,000; a faculty-community cast in the two Thursday performances; a large student cast and dozens of behind-the-scenes workers, all directed by Mr. Terry Parker. "Fiddler" gave Interlake a feeling of unity, as students hummed and whistled "Tradition" and "If I Were a Rich Man" in hallways and courtyards.

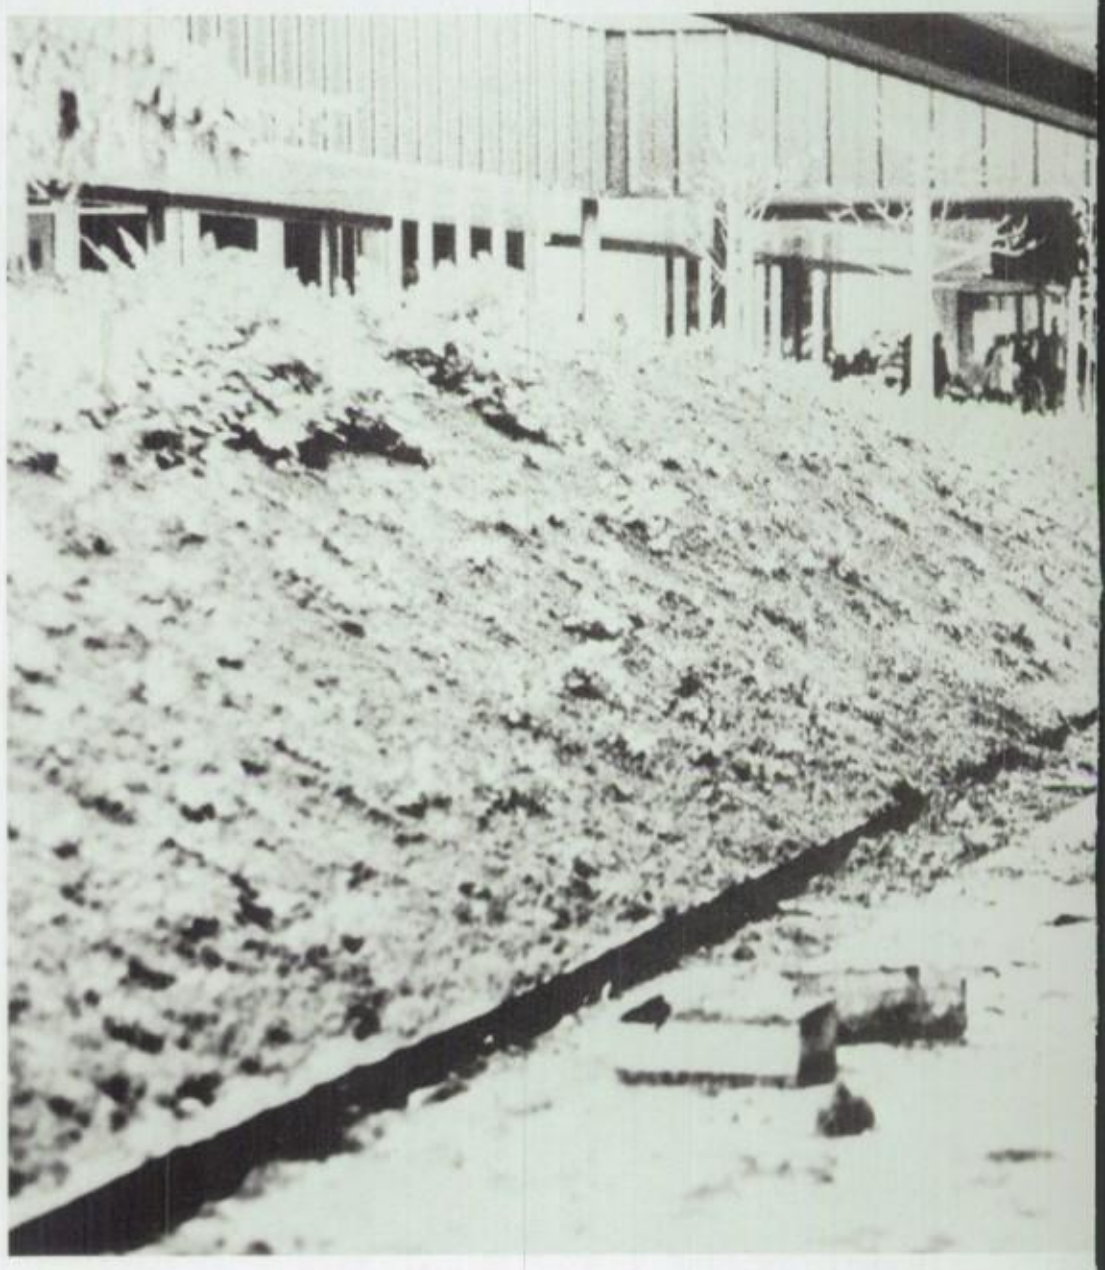
Dirty Work for a Good Cause

The Greening of Interlake

Last fall, the center courtyard and other unlandscaped areas of the school saw a major change in their appearance. With the help of Tom Nishimura of the Quadrant Corporation, about 100 Interlake students worked two days landscaping the school in the cold, wet weather. They graded the hills, planted ivy and salal, and finished it off with a layer of bark. The kids who devoted their time to this project saved $3500 by doing it themselves rather than having a professional landscaper come in. With the addition of trees and gravel, the school looked better than it has in quite a while.



ITTT and KSNT

One of the new sports added on at Interlake this year was table tennis, "a team that was more of a club than a competitive sport," according to team member John Lambert. "Senior Fred Laun was the guy who really got the ball rolling" said another player, Rusty Brennan. "We played just about anybody that would play us or had a team. Our greatest victory of the season was against Juanita; we won. The main reason being that they didn't show up. We did have a few REAL victories, though, the best was when we clobbered Nathan Hale. I don't know about next year's team, though." Most of the members were seniors.

The name last year was KEGR, led by Marshall Curtis, who transferred to Sammamish. This year it was KSNT, but the idea was the same, to provide music to the student body through an inter-school broadcast system. This year 11 turned out to DJ for KSNT, the leader being Mike Givens. Money-raising activities for the club included sucker sales and assistance in other school activities.

You've Got a Friend

Probably the most worthwhile club at Interlake is the one with the strange name that most people would associate with cards, "Spades." Spades, which stands for special aides, is a club designed to help and give service to mentally and physically handicapped young people, high school age and younger. Open to new members anytime during the year, Spades is one club that can leave you with some lasting impressions and deep insights into life in general.

"It makes you slow down and notice things," said senior Spades member Patty Smithson. "You start to realize all the stuff we take for granted that they CAN'T take for granted."

With Miss Angele Zeitjian, IHS teacher, as adviser, and senior Dee Dee Brown acting as president, Spades held Christmas and Halloween parties for young kids from elementary schools, Interlake cottage and Inerlake Manor. Other activities included Christmas gift wrapping at Valu-Mart and fund-raising for different organizations such as cerebral palsy and multiple sclerosis. The club also has a "one to one" program where each member takes one child out to dinner and an activity like a basketball game or a movie. This makes it possible for the members to meet with the kids on a more personal basis.

The kind of appreciation the handicapped kids show for these activities with them is probably one of the most rewarding aspects of Spades. "Normal kids always want more," said Patty. "The kids we work with really appreciate the stuff we do, like the Christmas party we had. It really wasn't that big of a deal; Beth Hartman's dad was Santa Claus and handed out candy canes; but they were just overwhelmed by it."

Math-Science

Math-Science Honorary was made up of about 15 honor students who have taken three years of math or science and have a 3.5 grade average in these subjects. Mr. Ed Strickland was adviser this year.

Busy, Not Just Brainy

CIA (Interlake's Honor Society) stands for Creative Intelligence for Action, and it seems that was what CIA was full of this year. It appeared that more people wanted to do their part in helping others. CIA had far more activities than in the previous year. Painting the press box and bleachers, a CARE booth at Frederick's, a toy drive at Christmas and an all-star intramural game they sponsored, with money and canned goods, that went to Neighbors in Need.

First semester students were initiated into CIA with a spaghetti dinner, and second semester students were taken to Farrell's. A 3.0 grade point was required for membership.

Cathy Veatch and Wendy Shultz were co-presidents, Gary Andrews was vice president and Greg Carpenter was secretary-treasurer.

Interlake's Foreign Flair

This year French Club hosted the International Dinner which served all foreign language students a variety of dishes from all over the world. French Club has been the most active group of the foreign language department this year, sponsoring many activities from a breakfast for the football players to a magazine drive and car wash.

Name of the Game Is Helping Busily scurrying around the school, aiding the terrified sophomores registering for their classes, showing the petrified new students their unfamiliar surroundings, passing out programs at various plays and concerts, hecticly planning the school's biggest dance—these things were all in a day for any one of Interlake's Fleur de Lys.

Who were those girls, anyway? What we saw of them was 35 senior girls, all dressed alike in blue, being terrifically helpful to all the other students. Is that all they did? Yes, because that was the name of the game for Fleur de Lys.

The purpose of the organization was to always be ready, willing, and able to serve Interlake's students, faculty and parents whenever they were needed. That purpose they fulfilled very well this year, and the amount of time and hard work they put into everything was really fantastic. It's enough to make you wish you could have been a Fleur de Lys.

Hi Janet,
I can't believe we've finally made it through typing and P.E. You're so sweet and nice that it's been fun struggling through with you. Maybe next year we'll be even better friends. Have a great summer.
Luv,
Diane Pietrowski

"Colour My World" was the theme for the most successful Tolo in Interlake history, with over 190 couples dancing to the sounds of "Stillwater" amid garden scenes, clouds and rainbows. The dance, held February 2, was sponsored by Fleur de Lys, who gave their $400 profit to Bellevue Medic 1.

Is the head style correct? Does the unit count match the number of inches typed? Too much deadwood, come on, liven up the lead, somebody write a cutline for that crummy picture, will you, and while you're at it, crop it down, it's too big. What? The typewriter ribbon gave out? Byline or no byline?... the headaches get larger as the tempers get shorter, but finally Deadline Thursday passes, the edited pages of copy go down to the print shop, the pages of the paper are laid out, and the Soothsayer comes out the next Friday. Then the next week is deadline week again, and the cycle starts all over again.

Other problems this year was getting enough funds from the ASB (they eventually cut production to publishing issues once every three weeks instead of two) and a lack of ads (from a lack of ad sellers) which also lent itself to the money problem, but despite all of the obstacles, the staff managed to survive the year, producing some 13 issues of the widespread Soothsayer. Most students who casually pick up a copy of the Soothsayer, then crumple it up and use it as a basketball don't realize what mass chaos is involved in putting out an issue. It's a massive responsibility for the handful of students to try and please the often unsatisfiable student body. Should the paper inform? Should it entertain? Should it stay away from any controversial subjects? These questions must be faced throughout the year, and all the newspaper staff can hope for is a paper that hopefully pleased all of the people some of the time.

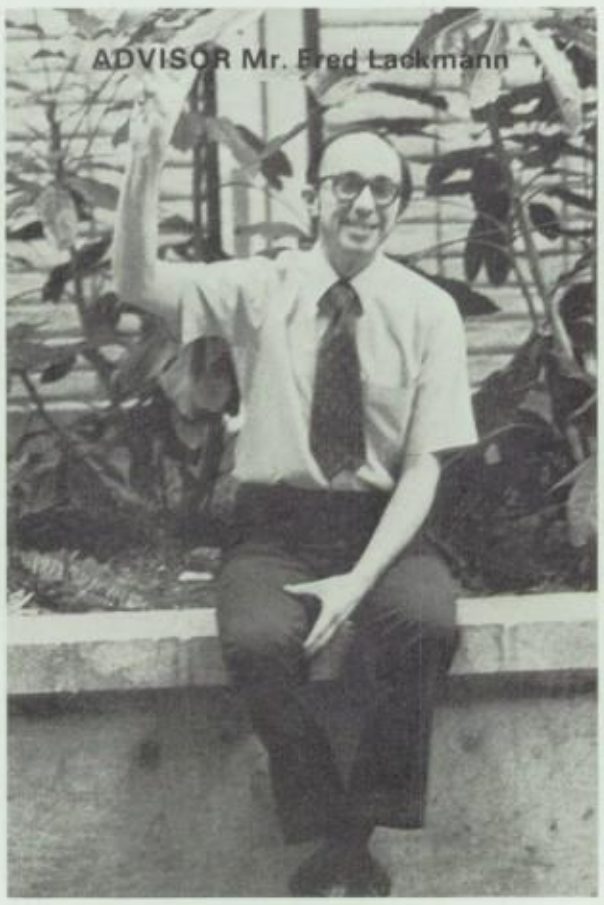
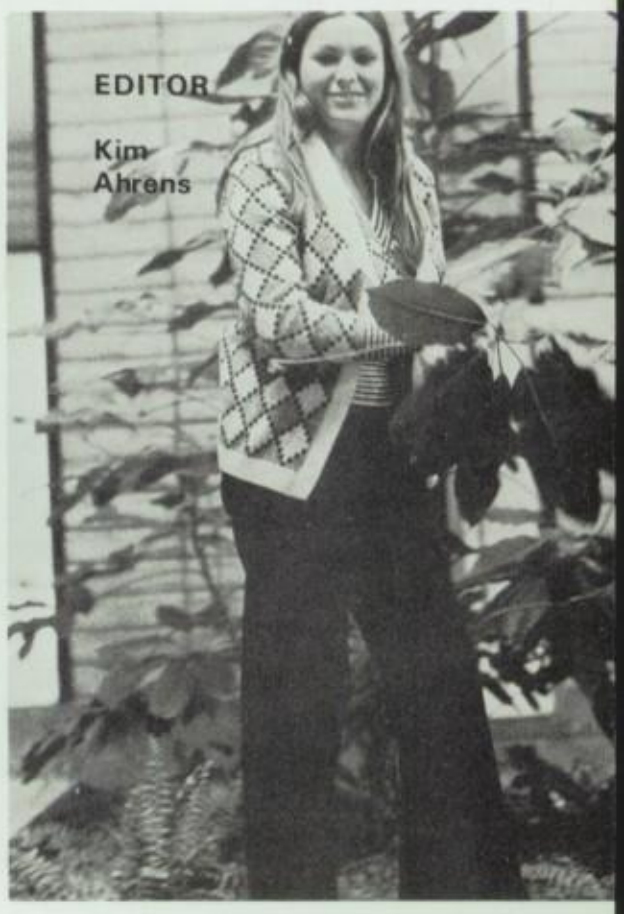
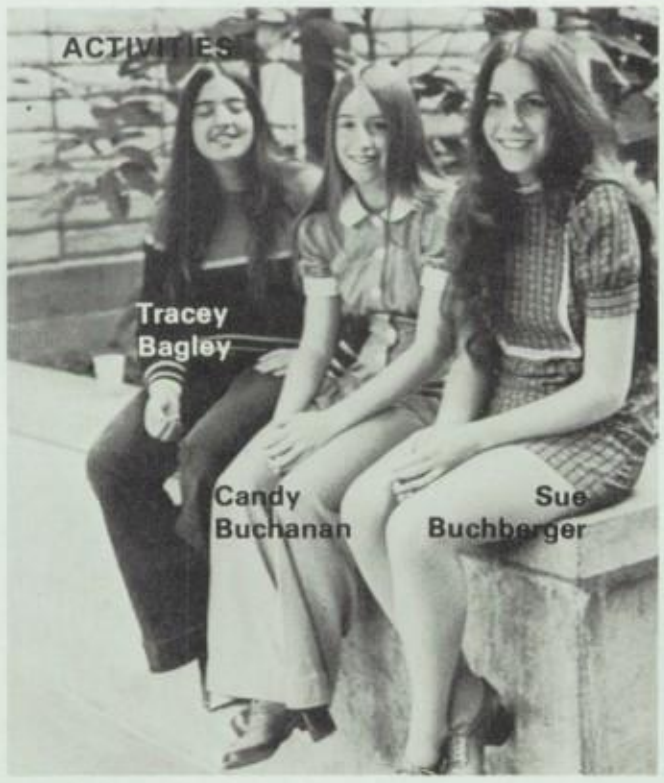
We've Got the Spirit

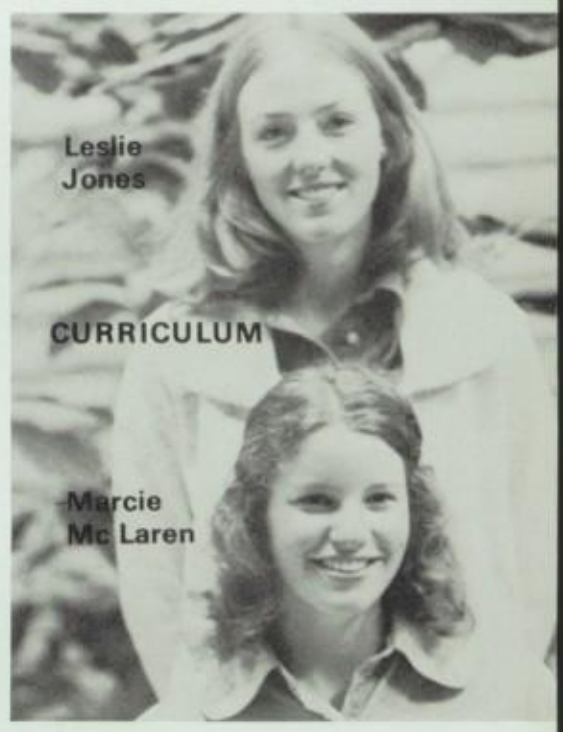
The monumental task of leading a classroom of noisy, rowdy, often lazy, insane people to the assemblage of an awe-inspiring, colorful, imaginative and accurate historical record of the 1973-74 school year fell upon the shoulders of senior Kim Ahrens, and what a job that turned out to be.

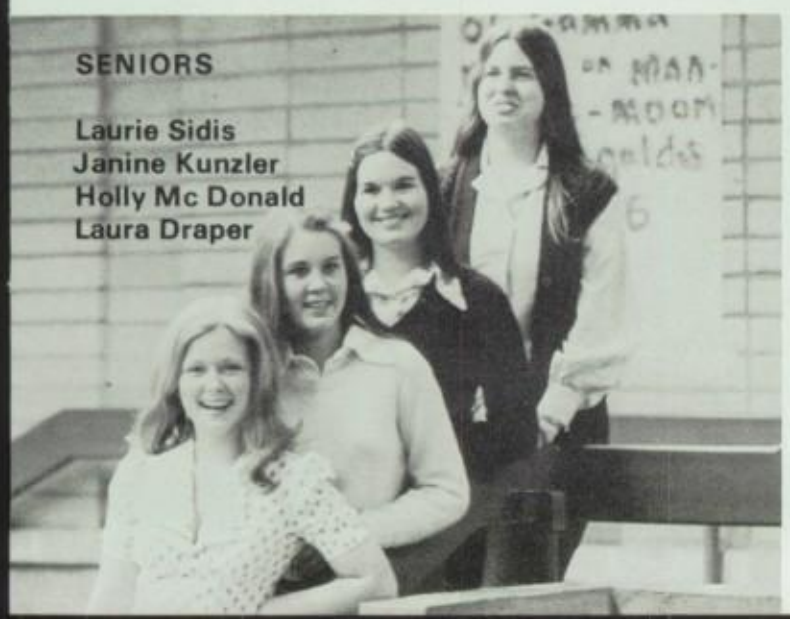
"I never knew it would be like this," she was heard to say as she pulled her hair out trying to get her workers to work. People probably don't realize how much actually goes on in one school year at Interlake, but one quickly finds that out in the annual class as everything from Spades to golf have to be covered with pictures and copy. Layouts have to be made, pictures have to be proportioned and cropped. Cover design, endsheets, photo essay, division pages, the list never seems to end, but unfortunately the time does, and Kim and Mr. Lackmann were constantly having to crack the whip to get the slaves moving, but despite some missed deadlines and all, the staff came through — and the proof is in your hands.

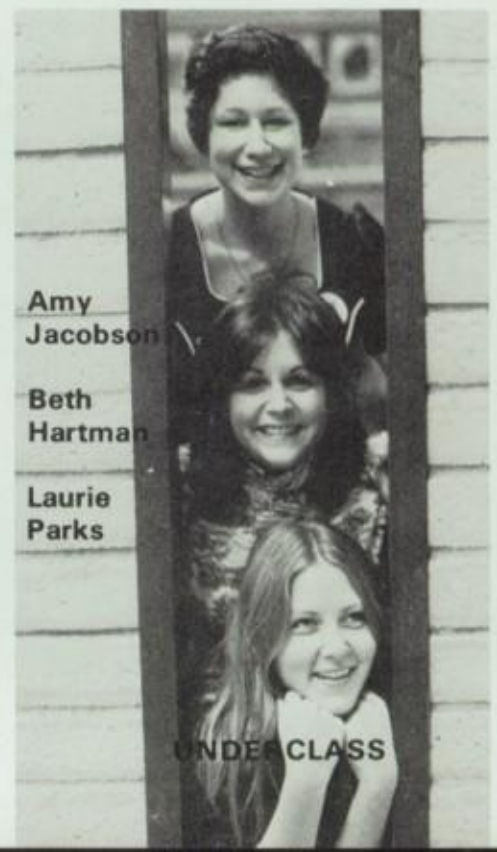










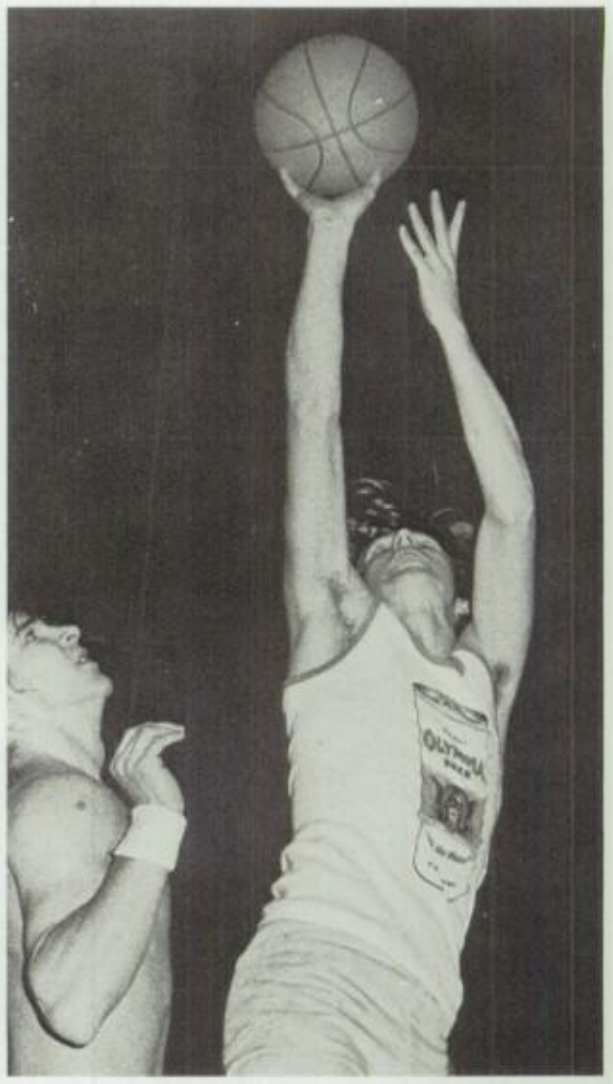


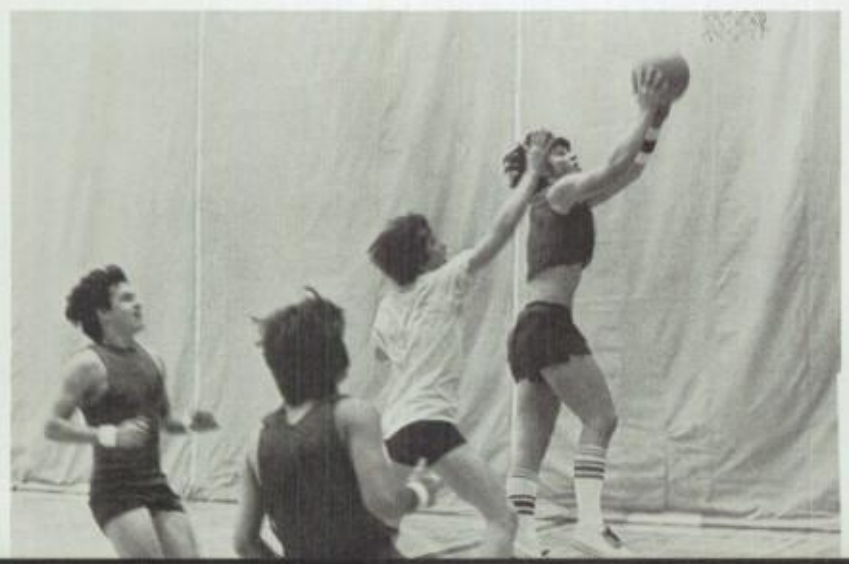
Where the Action Is

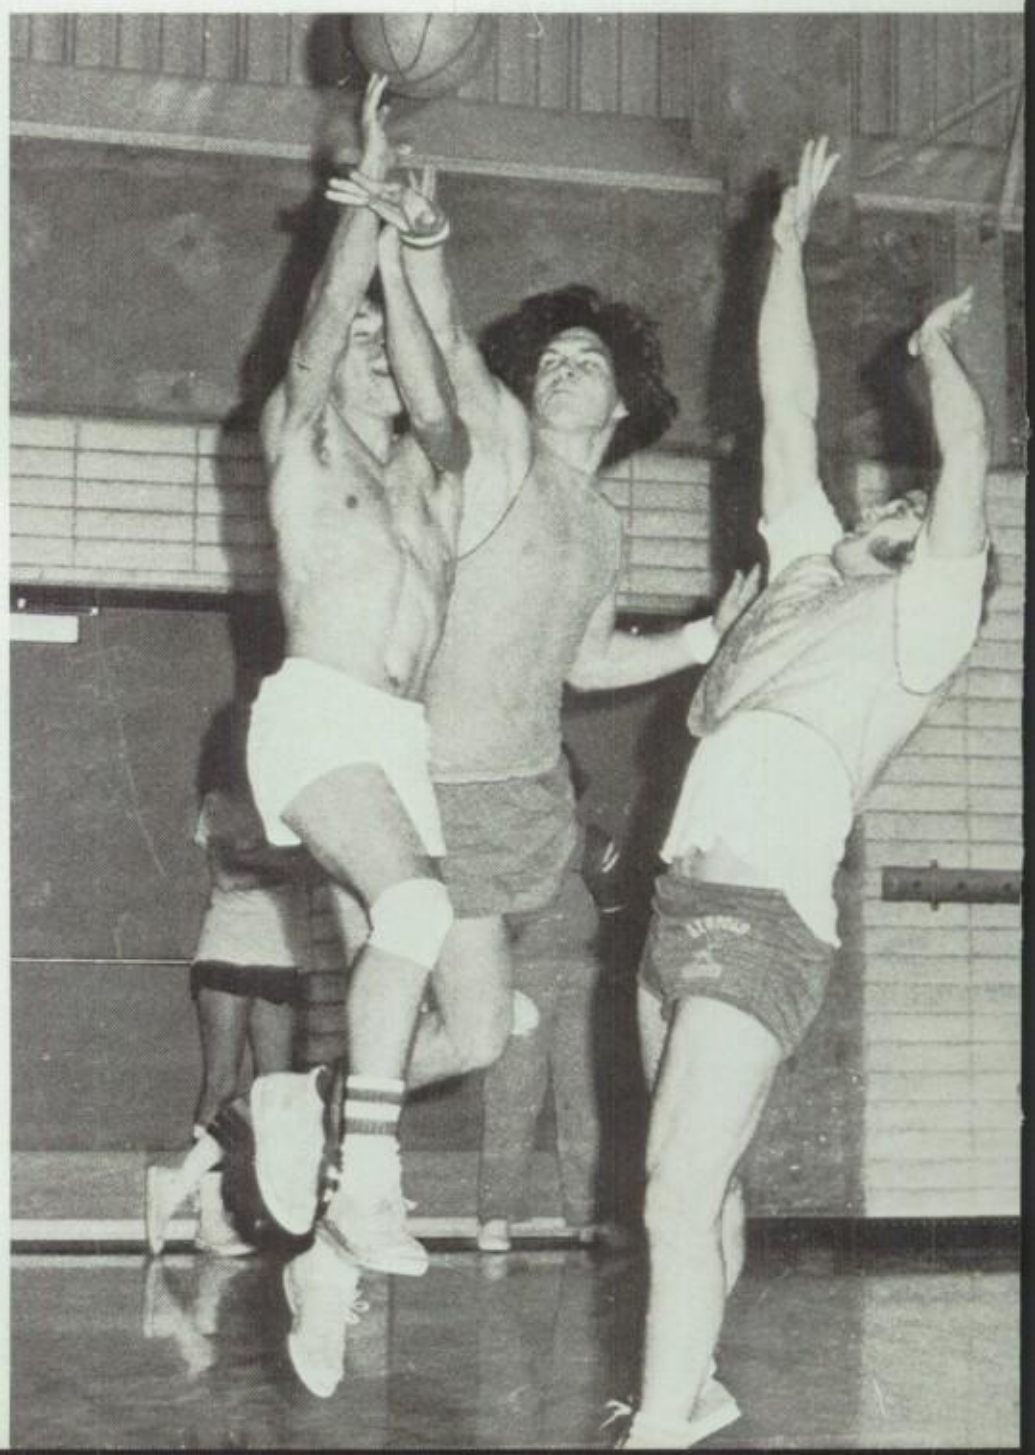
Intramurals is the name, run and gun is the game. This half-human, do-or-die sport vaguely resembling basketball drew almost 100 male participants merging into 14 seething, snarling packs, more commonly called teams. Those who stuck around after school to see what the ruckus was about probably left wondering if they had experienced a basketball contest or a well-organized riot as every trick in the book was used to gain an advantage against the other team. Often it was more fun to watch the guys WITHOUT the ball than the ones with it. One would have thought they were playing for World Series or Super Bowl money the way the teams went at it, but all that awaited the victors, even the eventual champion, was a hot shower and the satisfaction of being the peak of the Rockies, king of the Kamikazes. This year the Cunning Runts took the title, defeating the Korny Krouts in the championship game.

The games were not always balanced, with scores like 87-15 and 49-12 coming in periodically, and for some of the teams, the best thing they had going for them was their name. Commander Cody and his Lost Planet Pinworms, Six-packers, Shooting Beavers and Olympia Beer Hall Ballers were a few.

Casualties ran high as finely honed elbows, chainsaw-like forearms and tackles better than you ever saw on the football field were used on the court with the usual officiating policy being "No blood, no fouls."







For those girls interested in playing basketball, Tuesdays and Fridays after school provided a chance to play under the direction of Miss Liela Nicholas. The girls' intramural basketball team combined lots of fun with improving skills and ended up being a successful experience for all involved. More teamwork was emphasized after some aggressiveness, wild shooting and fancy plays that were sometimes wild and unpredictable, but everybody seemed to have a little style all her own.

"Coaching girls' intramural basketball was the best thing that happened to me at Interlake this year," said Miss Nicholas.

SPORTS

Part of this year's cross country team began the season with a 24 hour period of insanity in which they set a world record. Running for 24 straight hours on our track, they covered 213 miles, 883 yards. After this rousing start, the team burst into the season matched against some of the top teams and individual runners in the state. Despite this still competition, the cross country team ran their way to four more victories than last year.

—CC co-captain

This year's team was hampered by the loss of its Number One runner, Phil Oviatt, late in the season, out with a hip injury which caused him to miss the last two meets and the all-important district meet.

BSS - Bump, Set, Spike

Underhand serves, overhand serves, backward bumps, saves, the Big Three, Bumping, Setting, and the grand finale, SPIKING. What does this all mean? A good volleyball team has very few saves and a whole lot of bumps from the back row, to the front row who in turns set them to one of the other girls in the front row who then gets the ball and spikes it down the necks of their opponent.

In volleyball it takes a team, not one or two good players but six who are good and can work together. At the end of the season the team honored three girls: Two seniors as most valuable, Tracey Bagley and Clara Erskine, and Most improved and inspirational, Karin Westlund, a sophomore.

This season the girls' varsity won 3 league and one non-league game. The JV team won 3 league games. There was one fun game against BCC, and the girls won that too.

KingCo Medalist Golf Tournament, October 29, 1973. Fifty-three players and 954 holes later, the results were tallied. Third place, John Hayden-Interlake. Goodie. Second place, Tom Flynn-Interlake. WOW. First place, Gene Cook-Interlake. You're kidding.

Never had it happened, the top three finishers in the medalist tournament coming from one school. This feat, resulting in the winning of the tournament by a whopping 16 strokes, put the "coup de grace" on one of the most successful seasons in years. 8-2 was last year's record, but this year's team beat that, compiling a 9-1 record for the 1973 season, the lone loss being against Inglemoor on Inglemoor's home course.

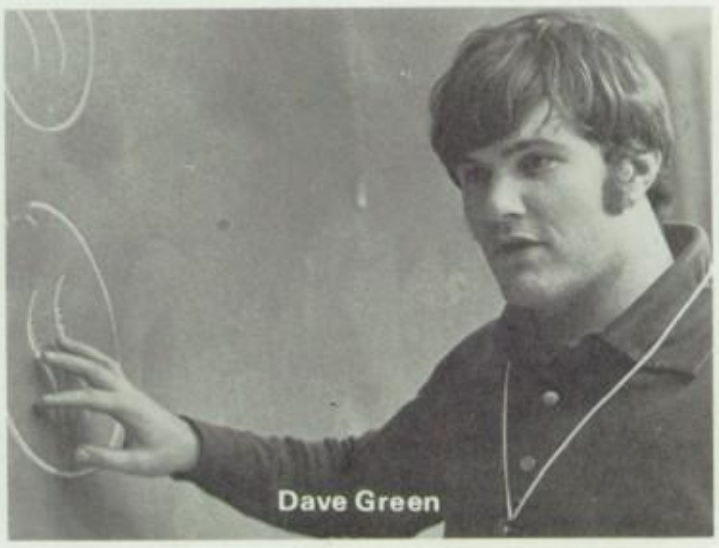
In golf, the home course advantage is a lot more important than in other sports. In golf, the home team knows all of the obstacles and "how to play" the course, and visitors usually don't. Interlake coach Pat Molitor was convinced Inglemoor could and would not defeat the Saints on their home course.

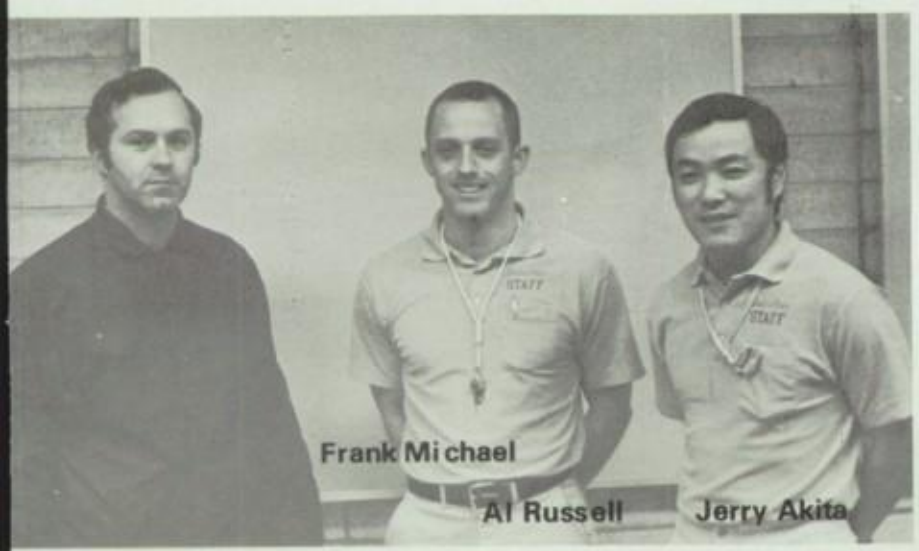
"No way . . . no WAY!" he boomed. "Look at the KingCo Medalist Tournament that was played on a neutral course," he continued. "We beat them by 42 strokes." Winning the tournament placed IHS in the state AAA Golf Tournament in the spring as KingCo's number one entry, a team Mr. Molitor, who's had some good ones, thinks is one of the tops in the state. One of the main reasons behind the success of this year's team was the fact that five out of the six varsity letter winners were returning lettermen, and four out of the six have been in the Interlake golf program for three years. "This makes for a very mature, experienced team" said Coach Molitor. "It helps in the big matches."

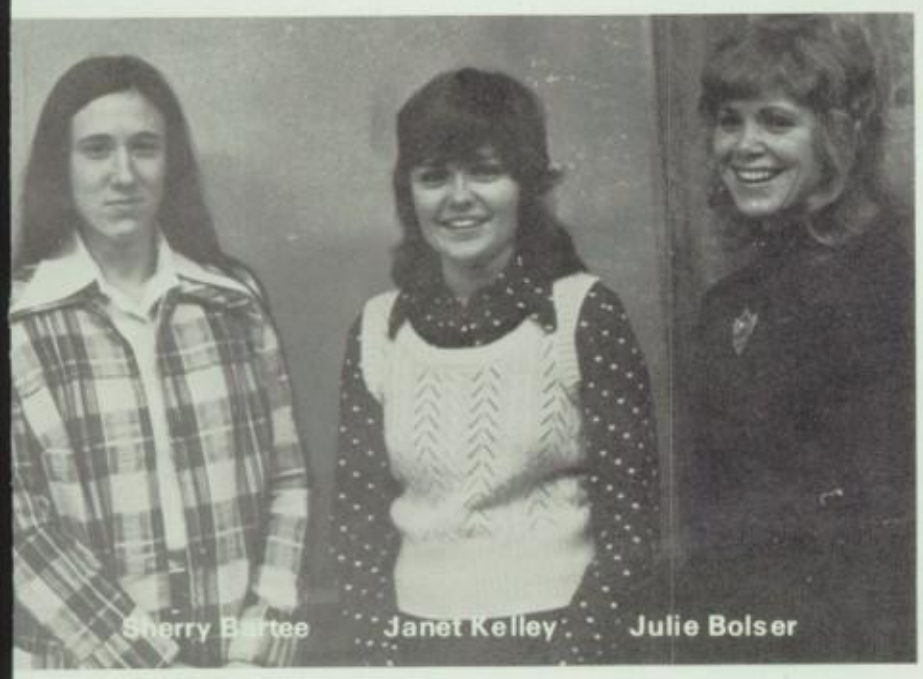
This year's captain was John Hayden (junior Tom Flynn will take over that spot next year.) Most improved player this year was Gene Cook. During the season, two course records were set, Tom Flynn with a 64 (for 18 holes) at Wellington and Gene Cook with 68 at Snoqualmie.

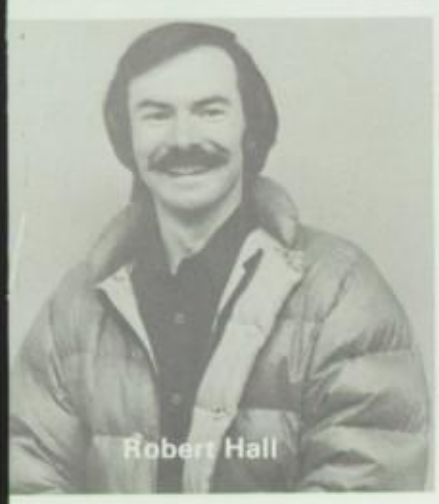
A Coach for All Seasons

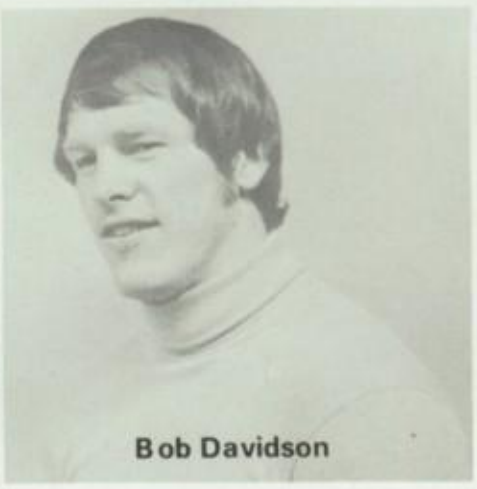
Coaches; bet you thought we'd forgotten about you. Actually, this is a page of appreciation. We want to thank you for all the time, patience and energy you spent with our teams this year.











The Billie Jean Kings of IHS

The highlights of this year's girls' tennis team was their achievement of breaking the all-time school record of two wins. A total of three were accomplished by beating Inglemoor, Newport and Juanita. There could have been a possible fourth victory but the match was never played due to their "friend" the rain which never quit. Nearly every match they lost was by a very close margin, 4-3, but the Saints still hung in there and won those three at the end of the season.

Number 1 singles, Sandy Bricel, placed third in the Kingco regional tournament, earning herself a chance to go to state in the spring. The varsity mainly consisted of juniors and sophomores so Coach Linda Jensen is planning an even stronger team next year.

Tennis team: Bottom row: Sandy Bricel, Cindy Wetmore, Janet Huggins, Jackie Ridewood, Nancy Anderson, Candy Buchanan, Ann Campbell and Diane Pietrowski. It's the Water . . . and a Lot More

Interlake sprouted fins this year as both boys' and girls' swim teams were formed, the girls competing in the fall and the boys in the winter.

To say Interlake's initiation into the world of swimming was a rough one would be an understatement, as the two teams won a combined total of one meet (the girls' triumph over Northshore). But you don't build league chanpionships in one season, and the competition was some of the best in the state, especially in girls' swimming.

Interlake did, however, send five girls to state competition: junior Cheryl Stewart, (who was the team's elected captain) sophomores Terri Ramsay and Judy Snodgrass, and a couple of ninth graders who will be around two more years, Kris Cassel and Lisa Maynard. Kim Maynard won the inspirational award on the girls' team and Vanessa Ellis was voted most improved.

Drew Collins and Clint Vigus were the best boy swimmers, according to Coach Rob Hemingson, with Kelly Moran and Ken Kummer improving the most. With a grand total of two seniors on the two teams, Kelly Moran and Sue Kauffman, things can only get better next year.

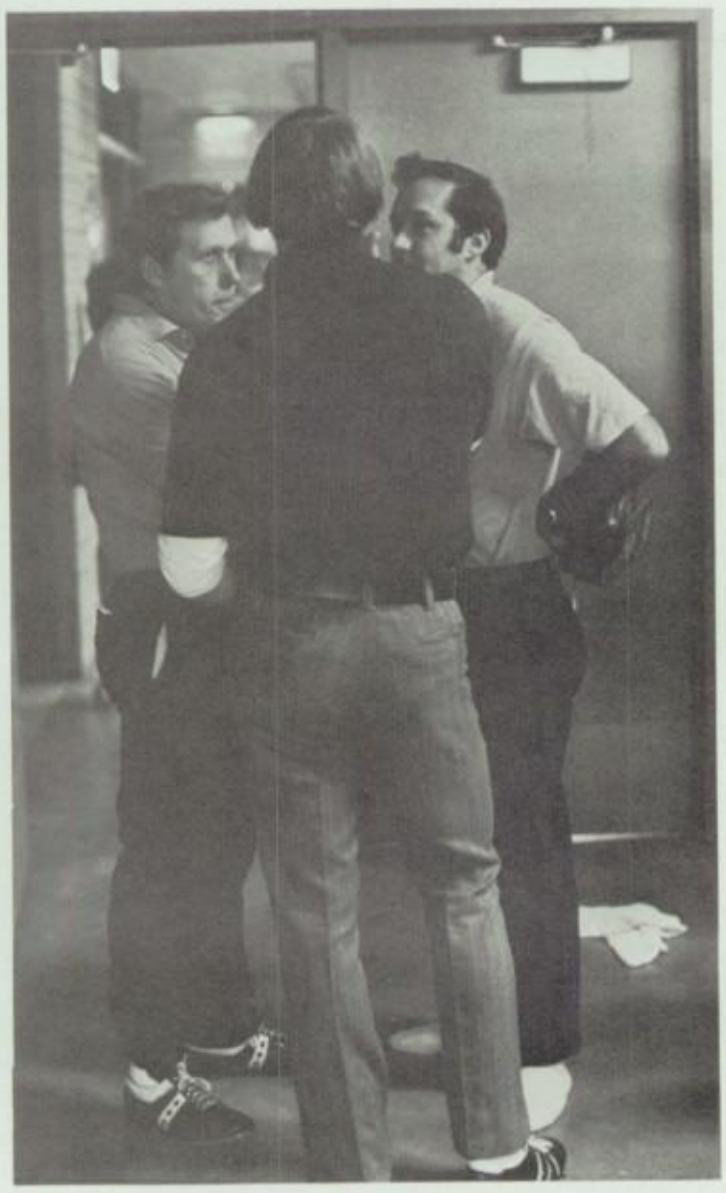
Close Was Almost Good Enough



Interlake started the football season with hope and despair. The hope the team felt was in the new head coach, Rollie Robbins.

Robbins took over the head coaching job after Coach Ron McAllister stepped down. Robbins brought with him a new spirit of winning which soon caught on to the members of the football team and in a short time the whole school was caught up in its wave.

One of the reasons this year was so successful was the new offense brought by Robbins. The triple option started slow at first when the team tied Issaquah and believe it or not, lost to Lake Washington.

After doing two of the worst things in sports, Interlake settled down for a winning streak. By now, the papers wrote of us as the doormats of the league. At this point, all the Saints needed was some faith and Joyce O'Neill of the Bellevue American gave it to them. She was the only oddsmaker who picked Interlake in all of its last games.

The Saints won 6 straight games. The loss to Mercer Island was not as bad as the score made it sound. One bad quarter of ball and the hopes for a championship were lost.

Most Inspirational

Although Issaquah was our first confrontation, the Lake Washington game marked the beginning of our season. It showed us just how bad we could play if we weren't mentally ready. From the Sammamish game on, we prepared ourselves mentally as well as physically. This proved to ourselves as well as others that you need a good coach and a team with a positive mental attitude to win.

-Ray Mass

This year we had more than a team, we were a family. We didn't have one of Interlake's more powerful teams and we all knew it. Our start this year was slow but with only two games left we were #1 in King Co and #11 in state. I think we proved ourselves to be considered not the best, but at least among the best Interlake has ever had. I will always remember this year's games, the coaches, the trainers, and the greatest bunch of guys I've ever played with, which all made up the family.

Juniors and Sophomores Promise To Put IHS on Top for '74

This year the Interlake J.V. football team had a fantastic season as they bulldozed their way to a 7-1 record, good for first place in the KingCo league. This year's team had so much class, they didn't allow one team in the league to score more than one touchdown against them in any single game.

Some of the key players for the team this year were sophomores Geoff Ringstad, Tom Flick, and juniors Jeff Smith and Mickey Watson. Probably the highlight play of the year was the 99½ yard touchdown pass from Tom Flick to Dave Michelson. Considering the season record and the talent, these players should prove to be a good nucleus for the future.

Gymnastics: Looking Up

This year's gymnastics team was greatly improved over last year's though they placed 8th in the league. Sophomore Lynn Osborn and junior Linda Schubert went on to state and Lynn finished 6th in all-around competition. Junior Karen Meriwether sprained her ankle a day before regionals, and this spoiled her chance of going to state.

All the girls did well individually, and the only thing that held them back from placing higher in the league standings were injuries of their top gymnasts such as Karen Meriwether, Linda Tracy and Lynn Osborn. However, with most of the team returning next year, Coach Julie Bolser expects to have a better season.

Saints Leave Totems Holding the Pole

Most teams figure that a winning season takes devoted time, hard work, and not much time for fun. But with the leadership of Doug Johnson and the added excitement Joe Clough presented, we showed that a good team can work hard with a lot of fun and most of all win. —Mark Runyan.

Everyone things that because we didn't win Kingco and make it to the state tournament like last year's team, we had a rotten year. Most any team would be happy to have a record of 18-8 and make it to the district playoffs. The highlight of the year was beating Sammamish three times in four outings. —Keith Nelson.

When you are aspiring to the highest rank, it is also honorable to reach third or even fourth place. On that basis, I think our season was a successful one—we won some tough games, we achieved some pre-season goals, but most of all we had a good time. —Joe Clough.

This year was a good year. In a few certain games one or two more baskets could have made it a great year. Doug did a great job of leading us both on and off the court. Nelson really surprised me; he did a great job. The season's end was a big disappointment in losing to Issaquah, though the last Sammamish game was great. —Roger Westlund.

Due to the neck-breaking hustle of our star 6'3" center Joe Clough, leadership of our captain D.J. Johnson, gunning ability of our top secret green liners, and the exceptionally good coaching job of Coach Al Russell, we had a pretty good season. —John Edwards.

This year's ball club, even though we missed the state tournament, had a very successful, exciting season. The team followed Joe Clough's example of working very hard in practice. This made the season the success it was. —Doug Johnson.

Even if we didn't go as far as we did last year, this season has been pretty good. I'll never forget all the games against Sammamish and all of Joe's fights. The worst part of this season was having to shave my ankle. But other than that it was a fun year. —Scott Pepin.

They say that when you are older you always will remember your senior year. I'm sure that I will remember this team as one of the high points of my life. We were disciplined together as a team, and it was great just to be a part of it all. —Kelly Purcell.

The JV basketball team had one of their best seasons this year with a 19-1 record. Coach Jerry Akita said this team really worked as a team, with a lot of good players, not just one or two. That's shown in the 19-1 record.

The Sophomore team had a very good season, winning 9 and losing 3 by a total of only six points.

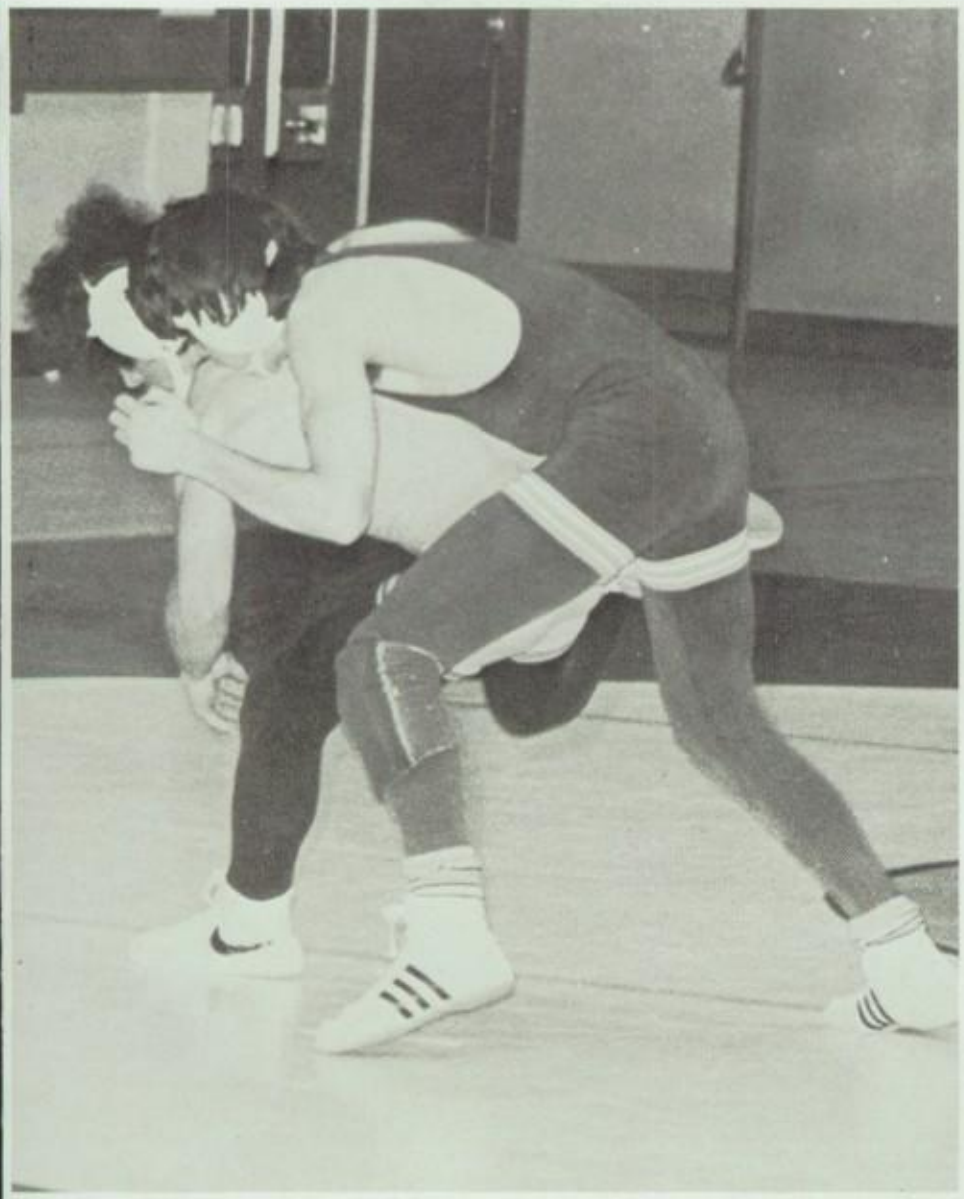
Untimely Injuries Hurt Wrestlers



1974 was the year of injury for the wrestling team, as throughout the season they were constantly riddled with untimely injuries. This resulted in fewer wins than they had hoped for, but the future looks bright as a lot of sophomores got experience wrestling on the varsity team.

Wrestling is the only sport where weight is such an important factor. All calorie watchers can get good advice from the wrestlers as they are experts in the fine art of starving their bodies. But afterwards when the players were weighed in, you would most likely see them around the student store catching up on their stomach stuffing.

This year we placed five guys in KingCo Championship Tournament. Jeff White and Bob Hart, seniors, placed sixth, Tony Burrous, sophomore, placed fifth, Russ Ervin and Greg Carpenter, seniors, placed second. Russ Ervin went on to place first in regionals, which qualified him to go to state.

SENIORS

Janet,
Well for me the year has been a good one. I hope it has been for you. P.E. was a blast don't you think. Have a great summer.
Connie

This is not the end.
Nor is it the beginning of the end.
It is merely the end of the beginning.

Nineteen Hundred and Seventy Four

The end of the year, a time when seniors graduate and go on to bigger things. A new life. And what will you leave behind? Memories of Homecoming, football games, Farmer Day, Interlake's first annual Country Fair, dances, Yazzolino's, SST's, food fights, school lunches, classes you knew you'd never pass and then did, getting hit with dirt on planting day, walking to Bellevue High, bomb scares, crowded halls, talking in the LRC, and friends you've shared good times with.

Where are you going? What will you do? What plans have you made? So many questions to answer, decisions to make. Soon you'll know if twelve years of classes, teachers, and exams have been enough preparation to face life on your own.

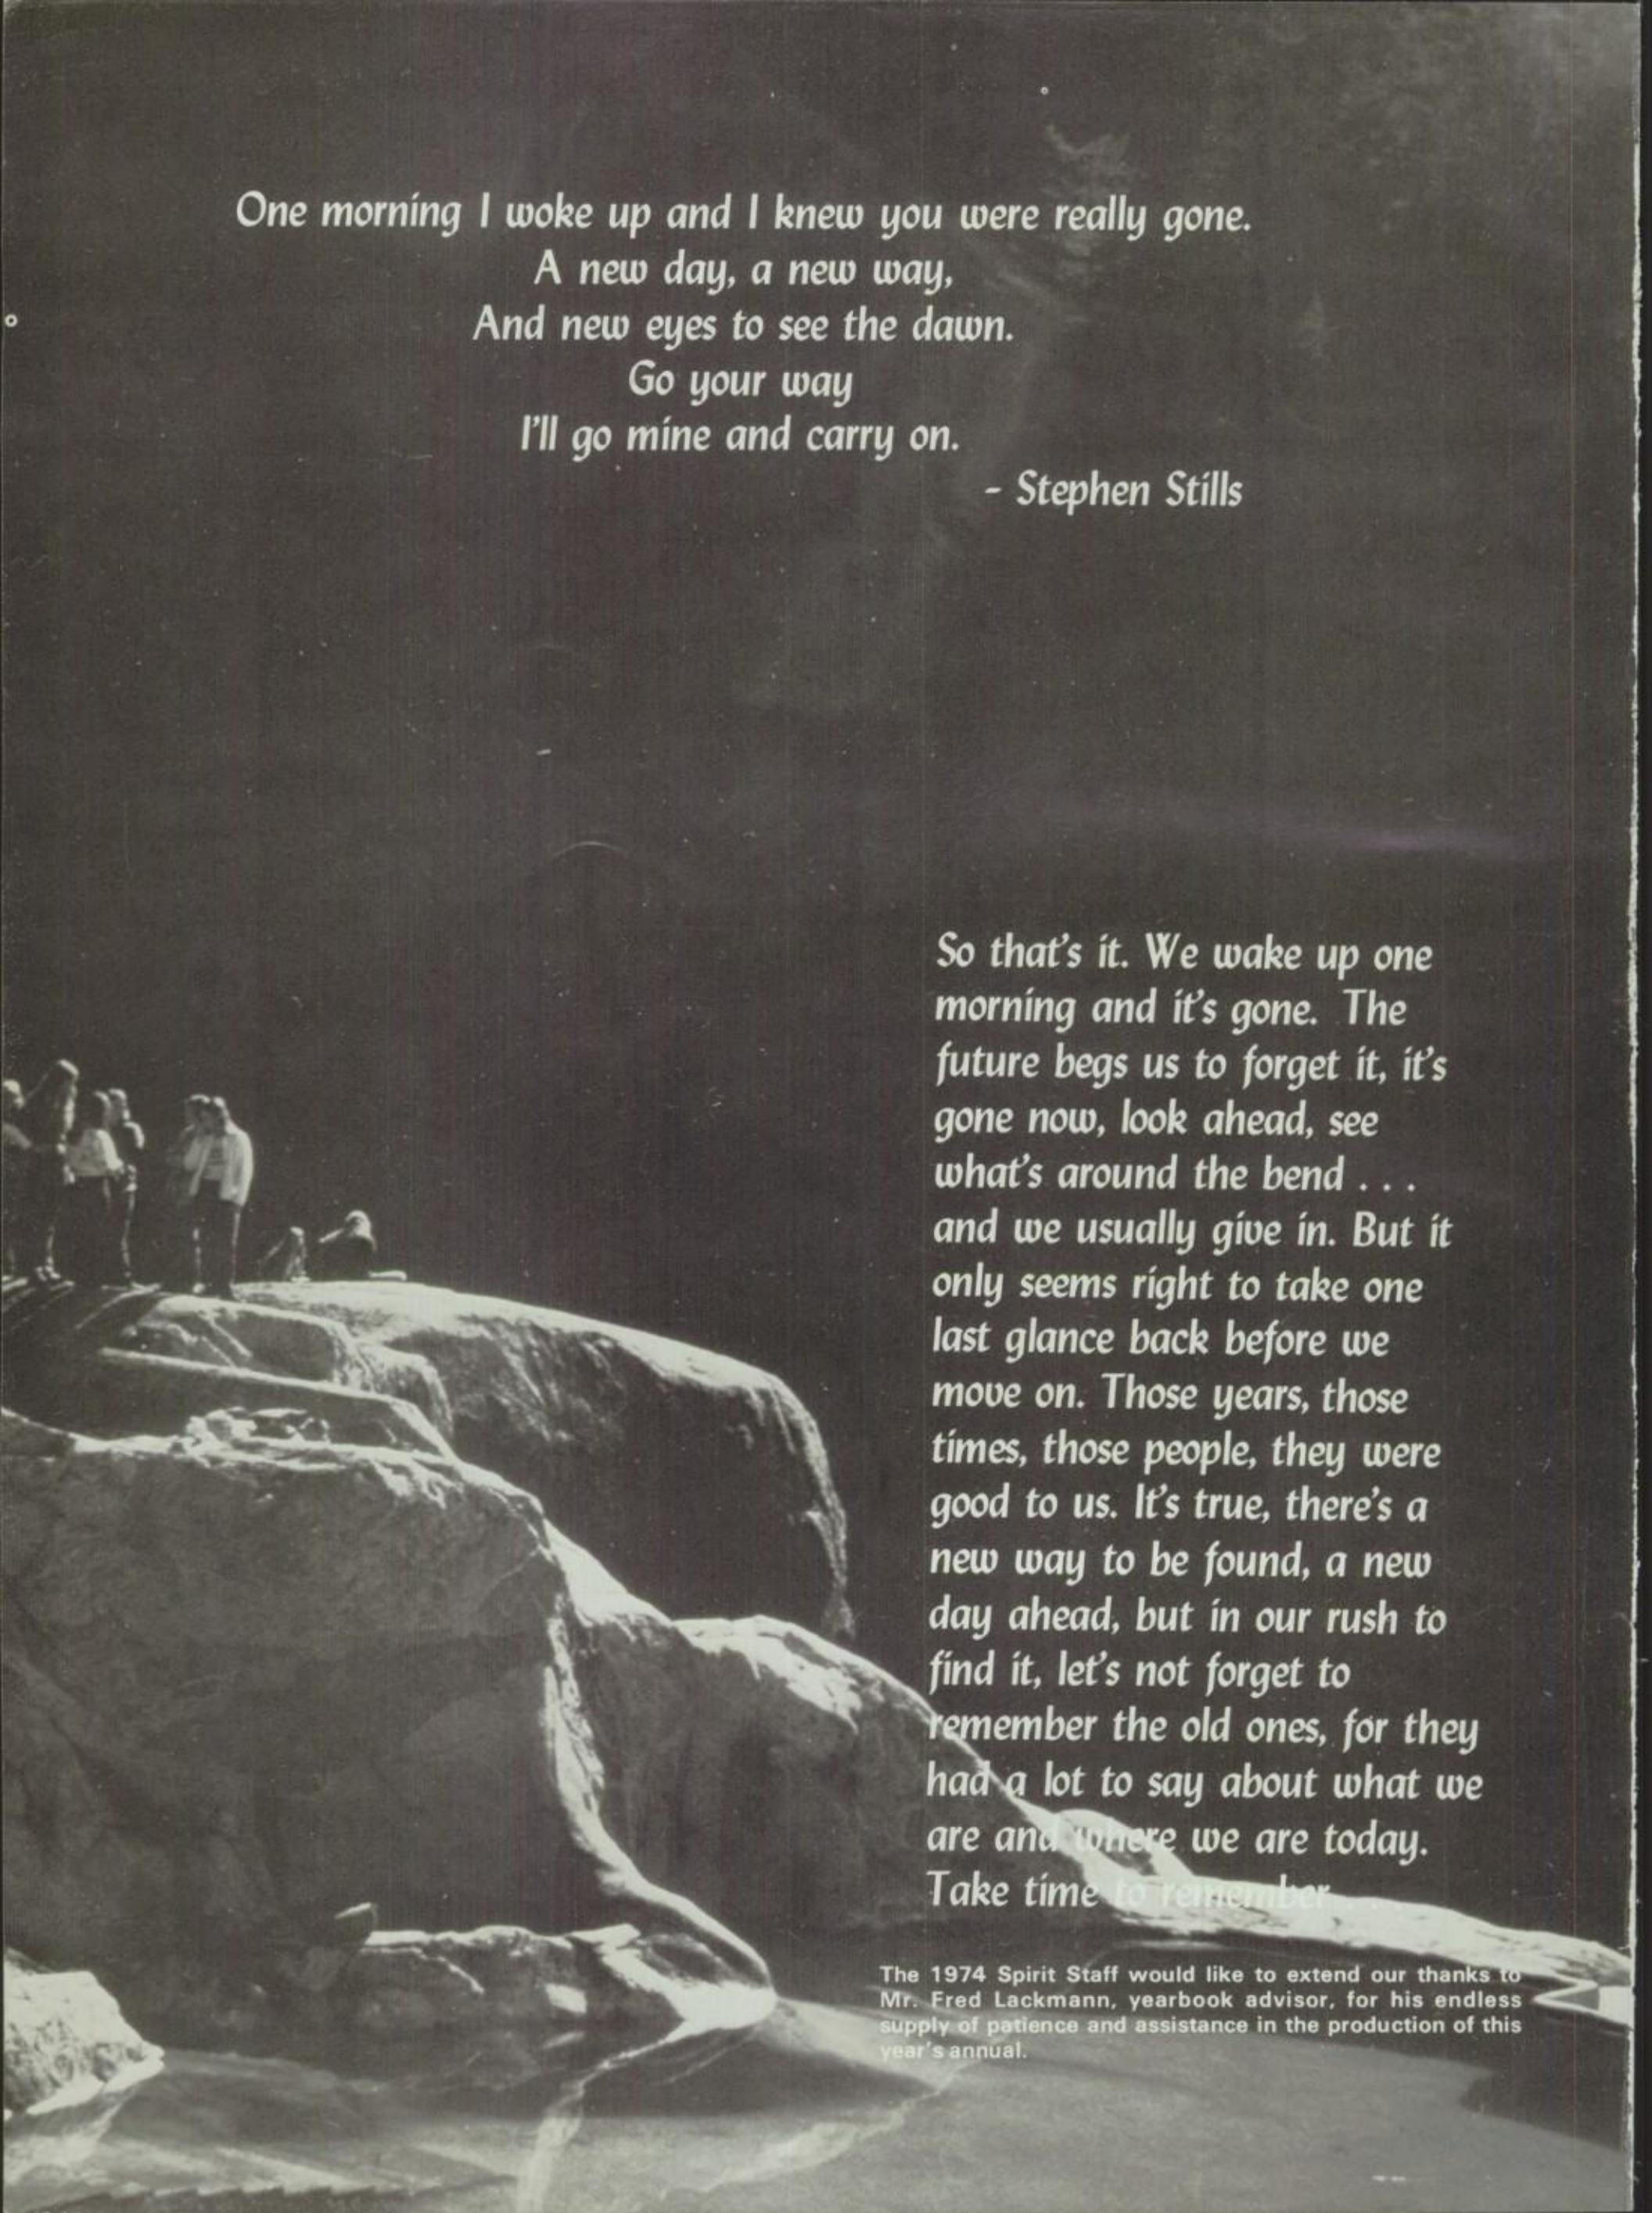
One morning I woke up and I knew you were really gone.
A new day, a new way,
And new eyes to see the dawn.
Go your way
I'll go mine and carry on.

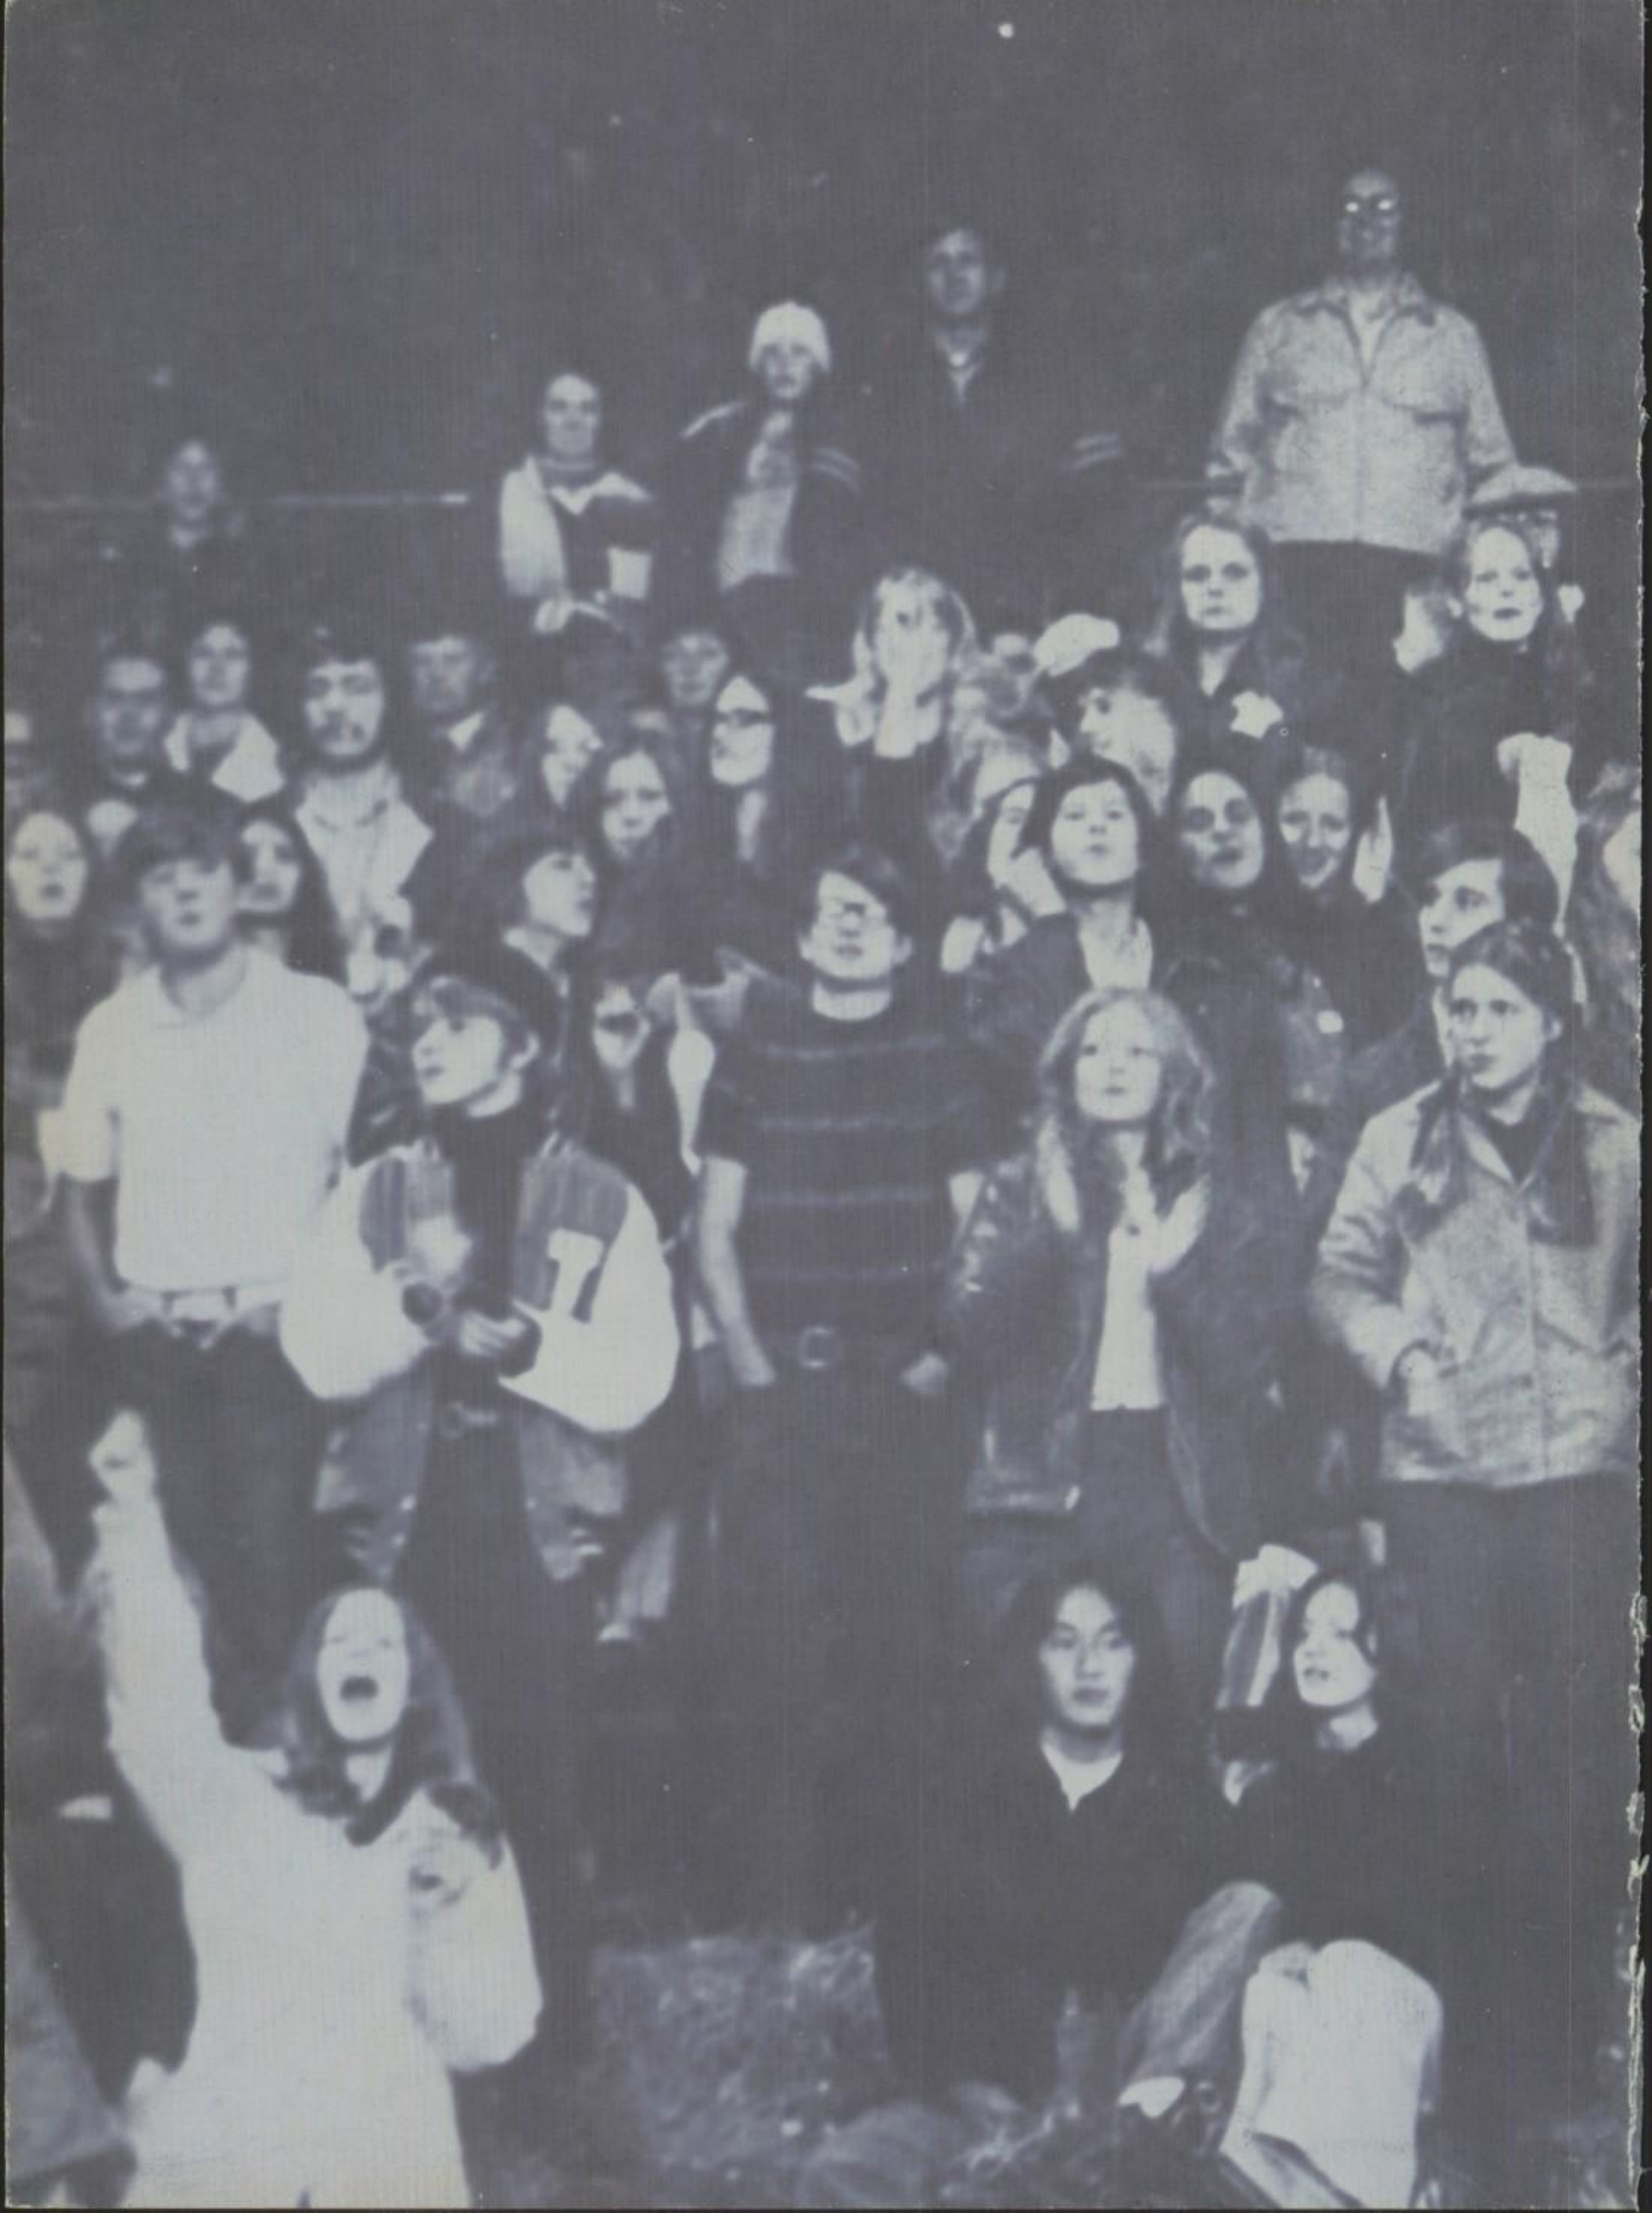
- Stephen Stills



So that's it. We wake up one morning and it's gone. The future begs us to forget it, it's gone now, look ahead, see what's around the bend . . . and we usually give in. But it only seems right to take one last glance back before we move on. Those years, those times, those people, they were good to us. It's true, there's a new way to be found, a new day ahead, but in our rush to find it, let's not forget to remember the old ones, for they had a lot to say about what we are and where we are today. Take time to remember . . .

The 1974 Spirit Staff would like to extend our thanks to Mr. Fred Lackmann, yearbook advisor, for his endless supply of patience and assistance in the production of this year's annual.

Janet, well, well, well! what can I say. I'm afraid I can't say much as I'm afraid of either ruining your innocent mind or corrupting you. I'm pretty sure it's never been done before, maybe you should let Doug do it one Friday nite. you never know it may be worth it some day. Can you believe we've only know each other for nine months (what a lovely number!). When I think of all the things we've done and said, I always remember that first day. You sitting in the classroom all by yourself and a good catholic girl named Traci walking in. Now you must remember I'm such a GOOD girl I sat behind you. Finally determined to make some friends I sat next to you. I'm not sure what those first words were but I'm sure they were doozies. Then those next two days. Good Lord, get this - shy, nice, sweet, friendly, etc. I look back at that and I know I really didn't know you. Now if she were to ask us to do it again..... No, really I'm glad I made the seat change. We did have some good times. Namely Mark-John-Keith watching, note writing in Sang's class, those little talks and all our plans of T-Ping all the basketball players houses and Raspberry's. It's too bad the year went by so fast. Maybe I would have had a LITTLE luck. See, it's seems all Zimmermans always get the luck. At least you do. I mean as Eileen put it "2 guys in 2 nites." I mean how lucky can you get. I mean first Steve, Janet the only one higher than him is Mark! Then Doug. Oh you must think a while on this one. Now if you would get a little FRIENDLIER with him maybe you could meet that mysterious handsome man. Think about it. oh yes and I'll never forget after school started when you showed no affection toward Mark. You were cracked! But I guess I'll forgive you because. Now that's all you think about. It's too bad that we don't know him now that would be great. next year let's get a hold of his classes! Ha! Ha! It's too bad we're so much alike when I hear all the things that you tell me I can just see myself, with my Romeo, yelling 'don't, I'm ticklish." You are one big crack up! Telling everyone that you're such a innocent girl and then giving me those nasty, filthy books such as "the Flame and the Flower" or "The Wolf and the Dove." Then I can't even read them cuz the pages are all stuck together with drool. Now really. It seems you want to corrupt me. You must remember I, Traci, went to a decent CATHOLIC school. So please don't hurt my virgin ears! No seriously, now I really feel I've known you for the last two years. That's to the thanks (con't. on signature page)



IHS Sports Branch Out . . . Badminton and Soccer

Did you ever go by the football field on a Friday night in the spring and see the lights on? If you couldn't see what was going on, then you missed an Interlake first . . . the first year the Saints saw action in league soccer.

Another growing interscholastic sport at Interlake is girls' badminton. This year's team saw more losses than wins, but still had a fun and enjoyable season.

Saint Girls Have Record-breaking Season

Trackmen Stride in Winning Style

Coach Jack Estep's biggest and best track team ever got more personal attention this year as eight coaches helped out in various events. Since it's team effort that produces the wins, the fine attitude, spirit and drive allowed the Saints to come up with a winning season. One of the most personally rewarding things about track is bettering your performance each time through three months of endless running, pressure, tension, anxiety and competition. The determined look on the athlete's face often shows the emotional output needed when he is running neck and neck, clearing the height on the last try, or giving that extra something right at the end.

Individual stars were many this year, led by super sprinter Dick Mickelson who hit the tape in 10.1 in the 100, 22.5 for the 220 and 51.2 in the 440 to be one of the finest in the league. The long-winded distance runners showed great potential for future victories. Phil Oviatt paced the league with a clocking of 9:33.0 in the two-mile run. In the power events, shot and discus, Roger Westlund, Bob Hart, Cary Davis and John Spady showed the muscle that kept them high in the standings. Other top performers were Sid Adelson with a 20.7 in the low hurdles, Gordon Harms with a 6'2 leap in the high jump and scott Pepin with 42-0¼ in the triple jump.

The 1974 season was the most successful yet in girls' track team history at Interlake. Nearly every track record was broken this year as the Saint girls surprised the other KingCo schools after being unrecognized as a top contender. They ended up by rumming away with it all as they crossed the hurdle and reached their goal of winning. Sweatsuits and an occasionally sunny spring afternoon warmed up the practices by bringing out the enthusiasm and drive that led to a very active and successful year.

With only six seniors returning this year, an impressive number of sophomores and juniors highlighted the meets with surprising performances. The state's second best hurdler, Karen Meriwether, turned in top times once again. Cathy Brigden and Cathy Ritari were the top sprinters along with Debbie Metter with the discus, JoAnn McDonald in the shot and Terry Kraft in the high jump.

This year the Saints were blessed with the strongest pitching staff in Interlake's history with Ray Mass and Mark Runyan, both first class pitchers. Defensively, although lacking experience, the infield did an excellent job spearheaded by Mike Lipe, Doug Johnson, John Edwards and Pete Sansevero.

If there was a weakness with the Saints in 1974 it had to be their lack of hitting consistency, although the starters came through with some clutch hits.

The Saints should make it into the league play-offs this year and stand a pretty good chance of making it into the state tournament.

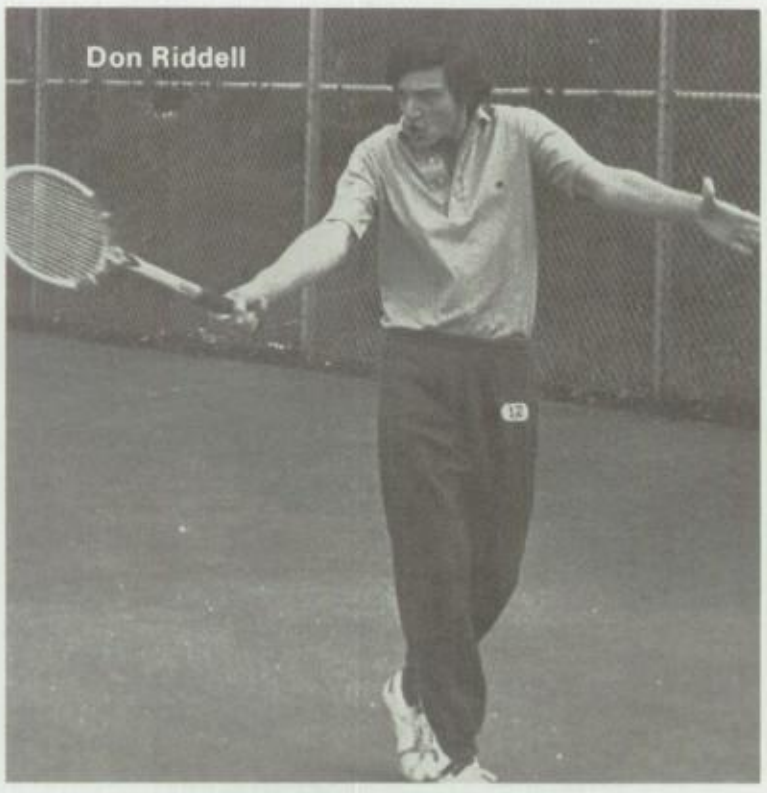
Tennis Had a Smashing Year

Tim Carlander



Don Riddell

"With a tennis coach like Critter, what can you say?"

"Words just aren't enough."

"I'm not disappointed, I'm disgusted."

Such was the 1974 tennis season, which is probably best described as "wet and wild." Due to Mother Nature's generosity in terms of "Cloudeus Precipitus," the team got a slow start as the first couple of weeks were spent banging the ball around the walls inside the gym. But once the clouds parted, the season got under way. The team went into a slump at first but ended up strong for a respectable record.

The team tried to put a little color into their sport by giving each other appropriate names and certain awards for achievements out on the court. Some of the more popular nicknames were Critter, Blume, Biffer, Gar, Muscles and Crow.

If a player won his match in two sets, he got the Sperm Whale Award. Losing twice in a match was worth the Yellow-Bellied Hogsucker Award.

The team will pretty well have to start from scratch next year, as there were seven seniors on the team this year: George Hargrave, Mark Bossen, Scott Kruse, Gary Andrews, Don Riddell, Jeff Princevalle and Fred Laun.

of our diary raps. I can't wait till Malibu! You? We really did get to know each other in just this short time. We went to as many games as we could. me cheering you on, sitting in the Pep band. your moods. Walking to the 7-11,, skips, lunch and english. Don't forget Kings, Love-Hate, HOT LIPS, the LRC, drill team tryouts or even just plain drooling all over the place. Oh yes and all rumors, and gossip tellings. Our meetings before school, before 3rd, and after school - tellings our recent happenings and me dragging you into Biology 4th to see Keith. Wow! But I'm sure you loved it. We did have a pretty good year. You think I'm so innocent just remember Heather. Now would believe that Sandi actually would have raped some guy. I'm sure. And then again being so worried about being kissed. Do you worry like that? I sure hope not! I know you're lips are also a little out of practice but we'll knock it. At least they've been used! Really. Here we have 2 more years to go. Think we'll survive? Especially our senior year no Mark, Keith or John. Oh dear what will we do. Maybe there'll be some cute underclassmen. Or even one or all of those guys flunk! Or plain enough, maybe we'll just get lucky. You're really a great friend and it seems you always have the same feelings. This summer we're going to have get together some nite and complete our T-Ping plans. Great way to meet a guy! After you meet them all you have to do is shine your little red light (yes we all know now) and they'll come running. But tell all of 'em to be quiet & don't wake your parents while you do your clutching (how gross) Maybe this summer we can even teach each other to play tennis. Or better yet in August let's shoot up (cont on 2nd page)

Janet – there should be quite a battle in the flute section next year. Im glad ima not going to be there. I hope maybe though there can be more leadership by someone.

It was fun playing and making all those mistakes with you. Sounds corny

Janet,
as friends go, your one of the best. It really has been a super fun year. P.E was lots of fun wasn't it. We made such a good team in volleyball, you falling under the net, and me falling all over the court. I'll always remember you by that friendship lasts forever no matter how far apart you are. Have a fun filled summer. Hope to see ya.

Lynn ☺

NAVAL ROTC

A COLLEGE EDUCATION and a LOT MORE

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps programs offer a way to become someone genuinely special. For qualified young men and women who have what it takes to succeed, there are two NROTC programs leading to rewarding careers as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps:

ATTENTION CLASS OF 1974: - The NROTC College Program . . . . . a four year program which any qualified student attending an NROTC college or university may join. Commission in the Navy or Marine Corps Reserve occurs on graduation day, followed by three years active duty. $100 per month cash subsistence pay is provided during the junior and senior college years. Based on recent history, meritorious College Program members have an excellent opportunity to gain full scholarship status and benefits through appointment by the Professor of Naval Science.

ATTENTION CLASS OF 1975: - The NROTC Scholarship Program . . . . . look into the possibility of gaining a four year scholarship providing all tuition and books plus $100 cash allowance each month. Graduates are commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps and serve a minimum of four years active duty. Application deadline is NOVEMBER 15th, but you can apply today.

For more information about these two opportunities, call the NROTC Unit at the University of Washington at 543-0170.

BE SOMEONE SPECIAL!
